Marjorie Alldritt is the daughter of Mrs. M. Alldritt, and lives at 2354 Dalhousie Street. She had 508 marks out of a possible 600. She started at Willows School only last fall, having come from the prairies.

Elizabeth Esme Burtt, who attends North Saanich School, won the bronze medal in that district. She had 519 marks and was tied for second highest in the entire province with Iris Smith of Brooks School, Powell River. She was only five marks behind Florence Tamboline of Richard McBride School, Vancouver, who topped the province with 524. Elizabeth Burtt lives on Thomas Cross Road, North Saanich.

Full results of the examinations were announced to-day by Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education.

As a result of the tests and recommendations, 6,713 pupils have qualified on last term's work to enter high school next term.

Of these 5,682 were promoted on recommendation, of which 132 entered the competition for the bronze medals, awarded to the students securing the highest marks in each of ten districts. In addition 2,456 pupils wrote the departmental examination and 1,031 were successful.

RELIEF ROLLS DOWN AGAIN

Lowest Point For June Since Peak of Depression; Decline For Six Months

Unemployment relief rolls in British Columbia dropped to the lowest point for June since the peak of the depression, official figures given out here to-day showed.

The total number of persons dependent on relief was 89,434, consisting of 18,248 heads of families, 53,264 dependents, 14,789 single persons and 3,1[illegible] men in national defence camps.

The total 89,434 is a drop of 5,500 from May and compares with 95,769 in June last year and 109,117 in June 1933.

The number of men in relief camps declined from 3,989 in May to 3,124 in June.

The proportionate decrease for June as compared with the same month of 1934 is not as large as in the earlier months of the year, according to the records. The yearly drop on a month by month basis ran from 10 to 12 per cent in the first five months, whereas the June reduction was just over 7 per cent.

January	111,[illegible]01	100,771
February	113,398	104,713
March	115,725	102,082
April	109,418	98,995
May	105,108	94,908
June	95,769	89,434

RUSSIAN WHEAT ON BRITISH MARKET

London, July 25 (Canadian Press Cable).—Russian wheat was back in the Liverpool market to-day with an offering of 6,000 tons, according to The London Evening Star.

ISLAND COAL OUTPUT IS UP

Twenty Per Cent Greater Production in June, But B.C. Total Is Lower

Despite closure of one mine at South Wellington, the coal production on Vancouver Island during June showed an increase of more than 20 per cent over the corresponding month of last year, according to the monthly report issued by the Department of Mines.

The output for the island mines was 43,639 tons, compared with 35,810 in June last year.

In the east Kootenay area production showed a slump. The Michel output was down 12,000 tons and the Corbin colliery, which produced 17,860 tons last June, is closed down, leaving the total for the area at 30,356 tons, against 62,802 tons.

The Nicola-Princeton section increased from 7,985 to 9,043 tons.

Relief Men In Harvest Fields

Canadian Press

Toronto, July 25.—Relief costs continually halting efforts to balance Ontario's budget, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn was "certain" to-day his administration would issue an order compelling physically fit relief recipients to aid in harvesting Ontario's bumper crops or be cut off relief.

The subject was to be dealt with at a cabinet meeting to-day, it was learned.

Relief costs total about $3,000,000 a month in Ontario.

Empire Union of Farmers Suggested

Southern Rhodesia Premier Proposes Move For Higher Prices in Britain; Prairie Leaders See Difficulties

Canadian Press from Havas

London, July 25.—An empire-wide farmers' union to insist on fair prices for foodstuffs sold in the United Kingdom was suggested to-day by Hon. G. M. Huggins, Prime Minister of Southern Rhodesia, before taking a plane for Brindisi, the first stop on his homeward air voyage.

"The United Kingdom is the only decent market in the world for agricultural products," said Premier Huggins, who attended the Royal Silver Jubilee celebrations and played an important part in the empire discussions of agricultural problems.

BELOW COST

"But so long as the British people are going to remain happy while paying less for their food than it costs to produce there can be little hope for agricultural exporters anywhere in the world.

"The only hope I can see is for the farmers in the United Kingdom and

BITTER WORDS BY MRS. WALEY

Nearing Prison in Michigan, She Denounces Her Convict Husband

Associated Press

Chicago, July 25.—Mrs. Margaret Waley bitterly denounced her husband to-day and asserted he "didn't get a third of what he deserved" for his part in the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping.

The nineteen-year-old wife of Harmon Waley, the man given a forty-five-year sentence for the kidnapping of George Weyerhaeuser Jr., nine-year-old son of a wealthy Tacoma lumberman, arrived here to-day en route to the federal women's reformatory at Milan, Michigan.

Mrs. Waley was sentenced to twenty years in prison after being convicted in the kidnapping case.

Denouncing her husband after recently declaring she loved him and wanted to go to prison with him, Mrs. Waley said:

"If it hadn't been for him, I would not be where I am to-day. I'm through with men forever. I'm through with all men.

"When I come out, I'm coming out alone. There will be nobody waiting for me."

France Announces Council Session at Geneva; Britain Ready to Close Suez Canal If League Recommends It; Italy Reported Willing to Resume Conciliation Commission Sessions With Ethiopia

BRITISH BAN ON ARMS SHIPMENTS

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Paris, July 25.—The Foreign Office announced to-night the League of Nations Council would meet July 31 to consider the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

SUEZ CANAL

London, July 25 (Canadian Press from Havas—Great Britain, ready to back League of Nations authority, will close the Suez Canal to the belligerents in the event of an Italo-Ethiopian war if the League Council recommends this step, it was decided by a reliable source this afternoon. The report could not be confirmed from official sources.

CONCILIATION SESSIONS

Rome, July 25. — An authoritative source said to-day the Italian minister at Addis Ababa has made representations to Emperor Haile Selassie, stating Italy is willing to resume the adjourned Italo-Ethiopian conciliation commission sessions.

The commission broke down recently in the Netherlands, where its members, representing Italy and Ethiopia, were attempting to reach a basis for conciliating frontier incidents.

NEUTRAL MEMBERS

Conte Vinci was said to have asked the Ethiopian sovereign if he was willing for the commission to meet again, particularly for the purpose of appointing a fifth and neutral member.

However, the minister was reported to have made it plain that the commission, even in case an independent arbitrator were added, would have to limit herself to the discussion of incidents in the negotiations on the question of the frontiers themselves.

The Ethiopians have insisted this should be included.

It was stated no official answer had as yet been received from Addis Ababa, but that it was known that the emperor was loath to revive the commission except on a basis of an

ITALY DENIES IT WILL QUIT LEAGUE

Rome, July 25 (Canadian Press from Havas).—The Italian government to-night issued a formal denial that Italy has decided to quit the League of Nations.

Persistent rumors Italy intended to withdraw from Geneva rather than submit to the League's juridical study of the Ethiopian problem had spread through the capital. Rumors Premier Benito Mussolini had taken this decision after conversations with British and French diplomats led to the denial.

MANITOBA TREK COMES TO END

Some Strikers in Winnipeg to Work on Farms; Others to Go Home Or Back to Relief Camps

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 25.—Manitoba's striking relief camp workers capitulated to the provincial government to-day.

Terms of the government for disbanding of the approximately 400 men were accepted by a strikers' delegation, and the men will begin registering under any one of the three conditions laid down by authorities.

The government proposed the strikers, their march on Ottawa at an end, return to their homes at the expense of the province, go to federal camps or take farm jobs.

FOOD PROVIDED

As soon as a man is registered he will be fed and billeted here until a train is available to take him to the place he has chosen—home, a camp or a farm job.

No time was set for the start of registration, but Premier John Bracken warned the delegation no delay would be tolerated.

FOURTEEN SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Montreal, July 25.—Charges of illegal assembly against forty-four alleged On-to-Ottawa hunger marchers arrested at various points between here and Ottawa were dismissed today by Judge Maurice Tetreau because of lack of evidence. Most of the men, however, still face charges of vagrancy.

Twelve other accused men were committed to trial before the Court of Kings Bench on illegal assembly charges and two women, Mrs. Thomas Pinelle and her daughter, Blanche, were committed on the same count.

Thirty-two On-to-Ottawa marchers were brought to-day into Montreal, where they will be arraigned on charges of vagrancy. The trekkers were arrested yesterday by Quebec provincial police at points between here and Ottawa.

WEEKLY PAPER LEADERS MEET

Toronto, July 25 (Canadian Press).—Close to 200 editors and publishers attended the sixteenth annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association in Toronto to-day. Delegates from all parts of Canada and Newfoundland, representing more than 100 weekly newspapers, were welcomed by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn and Mayor James Simpson.

PREMIER MAY LAY CHARGES

Reported Hepburn Considering Prosecuting Men in Ontario Threatening His Life

Canadian Press

Toronto, July 25. — The Toronto Mail and Empire to-day said that "informations charging attempted intimidation and extortion may be sworn to by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn against western Ontario men, during the next few days, as one more development from the recent intense police activity in that section of the province."

"The Premier would not discuss the situation yesterday," said the paper, "but it is learned from other sources that he is seriously considering the drastic action as a means to ending, if possible, the threats that have been made with varying persistency against his life and property practically ever since the election of 1934.

West Australian Protest In London

Delegates About to Leave For Home Score British Government For Avoiding Decision on State's Petition For Secession From Commonwealth

Canadian Press

London, July 25.—Bitter disappointment at the reception they were given was expressed to-day by delegates who brought the petition of the State of Western Australia for secession from the Commonwealth on the grounds of economic injustices.

J. McCallum and J. K. Watson, who will return at the week-end after being here since last October, in a joint statement said:

"The extraordinary determination of the British Government to avoid the reception of our petition, and to suppress any parliamentary decision on the questionable conclusions of the joint select committee, has served to aggravate the entire absence of frankness on the part of the Dominions Secretary (Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas) during the whole negotiations.

INDIFFERENCE CHARGED

"We are disappointed beyond measure at the British Government's deplorable indifference, but in any action which the people of Western Australia might now pursue they will at least have the satisfaction of knowing their intolerable and impossible position within the Australian federation is well appreciated and understood in almost every quarter here. To this extent our mission has not been in vain."

The British Government declined to entertain the petition and the special joint parliamentary commission found the matter was logically one for the Australian Commonwealth Government and Parliament to deal with first.

The petition followed a plebiscite in which the state voted by a majority of two to one for secession.

FIVE DROWN

Canadian Press

Cochrane, Ont., July 25. — Word reached here to-day of the drowning yesterday of five persons in the Cochrane district, three in the Frederickhouse River and two in the Mattagami River.

The triple drowning occurred about six miles west of Cochrane. Malcolm Upton, twelve, got into difficulties while swimming, and his father, John Upton, thirty-nine, went to his rescue. The father could not swim and while the two struggled a neighbor, Albert Taylor, sixty-three, plunged in to help them. All three drowned.

Names of the persons drowned in the Mattagami, near Smoothrock Falls, were not given when word of the tragedy came through.

Stevens In Toronto To-day

Says Party Ready to Work in Harmony With Provincial Governments

Canadian Press

Toronto, July 25.—The Reconstruction Party, if elected to power in the federal field, hopes to work in harmony with provincial governments throughout Canada, Hon. H. H. Stevens, chief of the new party, said here to-day.

Dropping off for a day on his way to the west, Mr. Stevens discussed the political situation briefly.

"I think it is a little unfortunate the announcement of the election date is so long delayed," he said. "The present uncertainty is disturbing to business."

Mr. Stevens said the party led by him was in no hurry to put candidates in the field. When the date of the contest became known would be time enough.

NO ALLIANCE

He stepped hard on rumors that his party was in league with the Conservatives, to split the anti-government vote.

"There is no ground for the statement and no truth in it," he insisted. "There is no rapprochement between myself and government forces or any member of them. The Reconstruction Party is in no sense allied with the Conservative Party nor any other party. Our object will be to have a candidate in every riding in Canada, and it looks as if we would succeed."

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

The Liberal avalanche in Prince Edward Island resulted from "dissatisfaction with the federal Conservative government led by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett" and the current unrest among the majority of voters, said Mr. Stevens.

Prince Edward Island voters had no choice but to vote Liberal if they wanted to oppose the government. "It will be different in the federal election, since the Reconstruction Party will have a candidate in practically every one of the 245 ridings in the Dominion," he added.

DEBT PROPOSALS

Mr. Stevens was asked how he proposed to retire the public debt in twenty-five years, and yet pay for constructive measures outlined in his manifesto.

His reply was that the proposal to develop latent natural resources for the purpose of retiring the national debt was an entirely new one. Hitherto governments had looked merely to taxation, and taxation to the limit. While maintaining taxes to balance the budget, he felt the policy whereby the treasury would benefit from Canada's resources "instead of giving away concessions" would provide an increasing revenue, over the years for debt retirement.

REGINA COSTS ARE $40,000

Regina, July 25.—Stay of western relief camp strikers in Regina cost the provincial and federal governments $40,000. Food, railway transportation out of the province, and other expenses have already totaled more than $38,000 and some small items remain to be checked.

HAMILTON CANDIDATES

Hamilton, Ont., July 25 (Canadian Press). — Controller Nora Henderson and Donald A. Clarke are the choice of the Stevens Reconstruction Party to contest Hamilton West and Hamilton East respectively in the forthcoming Dominion election.

Controller Henderson is the first woman to sit in city council. Mr. Clarke is a former president of the Ontario Retail Merchants' Association.

KOOTENAY CANDIDATE

Fernie, B.C., July 25 (Canadian Press).—Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the Reconstruction Party and former Minister of Trade and Commerce, has advised his supporters in his constituency of East Kootenay he would be pleased to accept their nomination for the coming Dominion election if so honored.

COLLISION INQUIRY ENDED YESTERDAY

The preliminary inquiry into the collision between the R.M.S. Niagara and the Ms. King Egbert closed yesterday with the returning to the vessels' captains of their log books.

No witnesses were heard yesterday, but the findings of the court were put together, and the stenographers report of the proceedings received.

The findings will be forwarded to Ottawa.

NAZIS ATTACK CHURCH PRESS

Campaign For Suppression of Catholic Papers in Germany

Associated Press

Berlin, July 25.—Nazism moved today to make its curb on "political Catholicism" a complete success, turning to a drive for elimination of the Catholic press.

The signal for the public campaign was sounded by the official Nazi Party organ, the Baden Fuehrer, which came out with a demand for the crushing of Catholic newspapers.

Three months to the day after Max Amann, president of the Reich Press Chamber, ordered confessional nespapers to devote their columns entirely either to religion or to politics —or to disappear—the Fuehrer asserted bluntly the Catholic press of Baden had failed to obey.

A similar campaign became noticeable in Upper Silesia, where church circles said the Hitler youth movement was the backbone of a drive against the Catholic press.

There, however, church circles contended the campaign was being carried on by word of mouth propaganda.

New Moves to Prevent War Outbreak

CONFERENCE AT ROME

Canadian Press from Havas

Rome, July 25.—An entirely new development in diplomatic attempts to avert an Italo-Ethiopian war was foreseen here to-day as the possible result of an important conference among Italian, British and French diplomats scheduled to take place here this evening.

It was understood from qualified sources the three Stresa signatories would try to reach a unity of view for presentation at the approaching League of Nations Council session.

It was hinted also that proposals believed about to be made to Fulvio Suvich, Italian Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, would represent in substance the outgrowth of recent Franco-British conversations in Paris.

Utmost secrecy guarded the nature of the suggestions.

SUPPORT FOR BRITAIN

Geneva, July 25 (Canadian Press from Havas). — Great Britain's position in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, whatever it will be when finally formulated, will find support from Denmark and Spain at the approaching League of Nations Council session, it was generally conceded here to-day.

It was regarded as certain Turkey and the Soviet Union would also stand together in championing full settlement and wbuld insist on rigorous application of the League covenant.

FRANCE'S EFFORTS

Paris, July 25 (Associated Press).—France's plans to stave off war between Italy and Ethiopia by using to the utmost the conciliation procedure of the League of Nations were completed to-day and submitted to the cabinet for its approval.

Authoritative sources said Premier Pierre Laval sought to exhaust all resources of the League's conciliation routine to allow time for moderating influences to be brought to bear on the disputants.

French authorities said Italy has made it plain to them she has no intention at present of quitting the League, action depending entirely on what is done at Geneva.

NOTES TO LEAGUE

Associated Press

Geneva, July 25.—A new note again requesting urgently a session of the Council of the League of Nations was received from Ethiopia to-day a short time after the publication of an Italian note blaming Ethiopia for the breakdown in conciliation efforts.

The Ethiopian note, the text of which was not made public immediately, protests again against Italy's actions and declares the League of Nations Council should discuss the Italo-Ethiopian dispute in its entirety.

Italy was led to communicate with the League because to-day the time limit expires for the work of the four conciliators who recently met at Scheveningen, The Netherlands.

By GEORGE PRIMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, July 25.—The British government to-day put the clamp on export of arms and ammunition from Briain to both Italy and Ethiopia.

Previously it had been expected the government would permit such shipments. Applications have been received recently for permission to send arms to Ethiopia, but these were held up with the official explanation that necessary documents from Ethiopia were not attached.

ACROSS TERRITORY

Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, said in the House of Commons the government would not for the present grant licenses for export of arms from Britain to either country, but the transit of arm for Ethiopia across British Territory would be permitted.

SAME COURSE AS FRANCE

Replying to Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, Labor opposition leader, the Foreign Secretary said: "The transit of arms destined to Ethiopia across British territory or British-protected territory will be permitted in accordance with article nine of the Treaty of August 21, 1930. The French government, I understand, interpret their obligations under the treaty in a similar manner.

"As to the issue of export licenses, the government are doing their best to make possible a peaceful outcome of the dispute, and will not do anything to prejudice the situation.

"They will therefore for the present not issue export licenses for arms and ammunition either to Italy or Ethiopia."

"FOR THE PRESENT"

The vital words in the Foreign Secretary's announcement were "for the present." It is realized in British circles that a ban on exports to both countries permanently would work to the disadvantage of Ethiopia, which cannot make her own. The purpose in declining to issue licenses now is to afford further opportunity for a peaceful settlement.

EFFORTS AT ROME

Britain is still engaged, through Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador at Rome, working in conjunction with the French ambassador, in trying to bring Italy and Ethiopia together around the council table. She intends to continue these negotiations right to the opening of the special League Council session at Geneva in the coming week.

But the British are anxious not to take any step at present which would aggravate the dispute or make peaceful settlement more difficult to secure. Therefore the government is declining to issue export licenses to both countries for the time being.

The British feel a peaceful settlement is the important thing, that prevention is better than cure. To-day's decision, it is explained, does not prejudice any action that may be taken later.

LEAGUE OBLIGATIONS

The British delegation at the coming special session of the League of Nations Council will stand for full observance of the League covenant in the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia, it was made plain.

The government takes the view the Council must not limit itself to the mere frontier dispute, but must investigate the whole field of tension between the two countries and thereby, it is hoped, clear the way to a settlement.

But it is frankly recognized here that the road is becoming increasingly difficult. Unless events take a sudden turn for the better, war between Italy and Ethiopia is a matter of weeks.

DUTY OF BOTH

In the British view both parties are required under the covenant of the League to agree to reference of the dispute either to an arbitral tribunal for judicial settlement, or to investigation by the League Council. They are further pledged not to resort to war until three months after the decision. If Italy refuses to agree to investigation by the Council she will be the first to take this step since the League was created.

Investigation by the Council, it is felt, might also cover Italy's charges that Ethiopia is retaining slavery.

An authoritative source said Great Britain still was without definite word from Premier Mussolini on the Italian plans for next week's League Council meeting at Geneva. Word the British were prepared to discuss all questions involving Ethiopia as well as Italy, has not shaken Mussolini from his silence.

READY TO DEPART

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, July 25 (Associated Press)—The Italian legation here to-day arranged for transportation of all Italians out of the Ethiopian capital and asked all Dodecanesian women and children to leave the country.

The Dodecanesians are native of the Aegean Islands over which Italy has sovereignty. There are about 400 of their women and children in the country. The legation advised the Dodecanesian men to leave also, but it was said a considerable number intended to remain.

MUSSOLINIS IN AIR FORCE

Rome, July 25 (Associated Press.) —Two young sons of Premier Benito Mussolini became officers in their father's East African air force to-day.

Vittorio Mussolini, nineteen, after a few weeks' training at an army air camp, was designatel officially a second lieutenant in the air corps. His brother Brun, seventeen, was made a sergeant, both assigned to the bombardment corps destined for East African service.

BELGIAN ARMS BAN

Brussels, July 25 (Associated Press). —Prime Minister Van Zeeland told the foreign affairs committee of the Senate to-day that Belgium had decided to ban the licensing of arms exports to Ethiopia.

JAPAN STUDIES NAVAL MOVES

Full Significance of British-U.S. Dropping of Ratios Not Yet Apparent

Associated Press

Tokio, July 25.—While welcoming the attitude of abandonment of naval ratios as indicated by Great Britain and the United States, Japanese naval circles to-day reserved full approval of it.

The suspicion was voiced that America's statement of "equality of security" for all nations and tonnage parity are unrelated.

The Asahi and other vernacular newspapers saw in the voluntary relinquishment of the ratio principle by Great Britain and the United States a reasonableness toward the Japanese policy and a ray of hope for a future disarmament conference.

DISGUISED PRINCIPLE

But the fear was expressed in Japanese circles that the Anglo-American formula merely disguised a ratio principle, which Japan absolutely opposes. The argument to place tonnage equality in a separate category, it was pointed out, is designed to protect the present superiority of the United States. Japan insists on a substantial, if unstated equality.

The Asahi says a more detailed explanation of Japan's naval developments under the new formula has been given to the Foreign Office. No decision on it is likely to be made, however, until the arrival of Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudair from London.

SURTAX SOON TO BE ENFORCED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 25. — Norman de Graves, collector of customs for the port of Vancouver, to-day received definite instructions on the new surtax placed on Japanese goods by Canada, becomes effective on all goods arriving from Japan on or after August 5, and applies even to goods coming here hitherto free of duty.

BITTER WORDS BY MRS. WALEY

TALKED AT STATION

Mrs. Waley talked with reporters in the union station between trains. She became bitter only when she spoke of her husband.

The plump blonde was philosophic about her one fate.

"I did wrong by not notifying officers when I learned the boy was a kidnap victim," she said.

"I deserve the punishment that was given to me.

"I hope the time I must serve in prison will keep others from making the same mistake."

TO MAKE SECOND POLAR ATTEMPT

New York, July 25 (Associated Press).—Sir Hubert Wilkins, arriving from Germany yesterday en route to South America on an Antarctic expedition, already has plans under way for a second submarine exploration of the north polar seas in 1937.

He has asked bids, he said, from four builders on a submarine to cost $100,000 of 100 feet overall length and twenty foot beam.

"The equipment may cost another $100,000," he said. "Although I still have a lot of equipment left from the Nautilus.

"I hope the vessel will be ready for experimental cruises, probably in Lake Erie, during the winter of 1936-37. I hope to start for the North Pole in the spring of 1937."

H. H. ROGERS PASSES AWAY

Man Who Inherited Standard Oil Fortune Dies at Southampton, N.Y.

Associated Press

Southampton, N.Y., July 25.—Col. Henry Huddleston Rogers, fifty-five, who inherited one of the large fortunes made in the Standard Oil companies, died to-day at the Southampton Hospital.

Col. Rogers, son of the late H. H. Rogers—a vice-president of the Standard Oil companies for years and a chief aide for John D. Rockefeller in the development of the vast concern—suffered pneumonia last October.

Col. Rogers was an extensive student of and an authority on American military affairs. He also was an authority on early American shipping and whaling—two industries in which his early American ancestors were prominent.

NEW TAX PLANS DRAFTED IN U.S.

Democrats of House Committee Have $200,000,000 As Sum in View

Associated Press

Washington, July 25.—A tentative agreement on a new tax bill to raise about $200,000,000 a year but which does not include the inter-corporation dividend tax proposed by the President was reached to-day by House ways and means committee Democrats.

The tentative measure would put heavier taxes on all individual incomes over $150,000, inheritances over $50,000 left to close of kin, the profits that a corporation makes above 8 or 10 per cent on its capital, and on corporation income.

The tentative decision to include the last, if it is not overthrown subsequently, is a partial victory for the President.

He proposed the present flat 13¾ per cent tax on all corporation income be replaced with a graduated levy ranging from 10¾ to 16¾.

Chairman Doughton of the committee asserted the range "probably will be much narrower than that—maybe from 13¼ to 14¼."

Empire Union Of Farmers Suggested

the overseas parts of the empire to form a great union and insist on getting a fair price for what they produce."

Calgary, July 25. — The Huggins proposal of an empire-wide farmers' union to insist on fair prices for foodstuffs sold in the United Kingdom was not practical, Norman F. Priestley, vice-president of the United Farmers of Alberta, commented to-day.

Empire countries produce more than they can consume, he added, and such a union could not affect price levels.

SOCIAL RECONSTRUCTION

The whole problem of social reconstruction was concerned, said Henry Wise Wood, chairman of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

"It is a great scheme," he stated, "but how are you going to implement it? The supreme problem is regulation of production."

Anything that would bring an increase in prices and trade would be welcomed, an official of the Western Stock Growers' Association said.

POSTS, ROGERS START FLIGHT

Associated Press

Los Angeles, July 25.—Wiley Post, two times navigator of the globe, with Mrs. Post and Will Rogers, actor-writer, left Union Air terminal at 1.20 o'clock this afternoon presumably for Seattle on the first leg of a projected 8,263-mile flight to Moscow.

URGES INQUIRY ON POTATOES

Canadian Press

New Westminster, July 25.—An investigation into the marketing of potatoes under the British Columbia Marketing Board has been suggested by John Hunter, Surrey farmer, in a letter to the provincial Minister of Agriculture, in which he intimates an injunction may be sought against the board to prevent interference with potato shipments.

Mr. Hunter says he favors control but claims appointment of politicians to the board instead of practical business men has brought about an impossible state of affairs through gross mismanagement. He states there should not be a quota at this time when potatoes are beginning to rot in the ground.

BRITISH CURRENCIES

New York, July 25 (Canadian Press). —British currencies were steady while the French franc declined on the foreign exchange market to-day.

The pound sterling advanced half a cent to $4.96¼, the Canadian dollar remained stationary at a discount of ¼ per cent while the franc conceded .00¾ of a cent to 6.60¾ cents.

Prices have been set for both reds and whites at $25 f.o.b. with tolls and charges at 50 cents a ton. The yield to the producer is $20.

SAYS SMALL PROFIT MADE

Imperial Oil Market Director Denies Charge Against Concern

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 25.—Gasoline at twenty-three cents a gallon, less tax, the prevailing price in Vancouver, is 0.17 cent lower than the price at which it could be imported and handled at similar profit by retailers, the royal commission investigating the fuel industry in British Columbia was told to-day by A. E. Halvorson, Imperial Oil Limited, director of marketing.

Mr. Halvorson took exception to a contention his company sells gasoline at enhanced prices and fuel oil at a loss because it is interested in increasing the market for the latter. This contention, he declared, was incorrect. "We are interested in supplying markets, not creating them. The contention does not make common sense."

With regard to fuel oil business, Mr. Halvorson said he would file with the commission a confidential statement which he said would disclose that fuel oil could have been imported by Imperial oil customers at less than they paid to the company.

"It has been our constant battle to get fair remuneration for fuel oil in competition with imported fuel oil," he said.

"Can you arbitrarily raise the price of gasoline in one province to cover losses in other provinces" he was asked.

"No," replied Mr. Halvorson. "We are limited by competition. The oil business is one of the most competitive in the world."

He added that reduced gasoline prices had been offset by increased taxes.

BOY LOSES LIFE

Kamloops, B.C., July 25 (Canadian Press).—Thrown from a partly broken colt he was attempting to ride yesterday evening, Roy Preston, employed at Cherry Creek, twelve miles west of here, as a haymaker, received injuries when his head struck a corral post from which he died to-day. The boy's mother, according to letters in his possession, resides at New Westminster.

Anyox Mine Closing July 31

Preparations Made to Dismantle Machinery at Northern Property

Canadian Press

Anyox, B.C., July 25.—This northern mining settlement of some 2,000,000 persos will become another of British Columbia's "ghost towns" after July 31. The Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Co. Ltd. has decided to close its large Anyox plant on that date because of the low price and lack of demand for copper.

Salaried employees have been given a month's notice, dating from June 30, and preparations to dismantle mine machinery are under way. The mine has employed approximately 1,000 persons.

The town contains a hospital, provincial government building, four churches, a large hall, gymnasium, two moving picture theatres and several other places of business. These will be closed of necessity when the mine is shut down.

Reports have stated the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd., with head office in Montreal, may take over and continue to operate the mine and smelter. These reports have not been confirmed.

LEAGUE AGAINST SOCIAL CREDIT

Canadian Press

Calgary, July 25.—Charging the adoption of social credit would place unbearable burden on both industry and agriculture and would ruin the mass of Alberta's best citizens, Dr. William Egbert, former Lieutenant-Governor, explained in an address yesterday evening the formation and objectives of the Economic Safety League.

The league, he stated, was an organization of Alberta citizens convinced the adoption of the William Abehart Alberta Social Credit League proposals would be a calamity for the province.

Dr. Egbert said the league was strictly non-partizan and its aims were, in the best sense, education. It sought to place before the electors its reasons for the conviction that economic disaster could result should the elections place in power "a group of men pledged to put into execution the curious ideas of social credit devised by Aberhart," he continued.

CANADA'S COTTON MILLS PROTECTED

Canadian Press

St. John, N.B., July 25.—If the Federal Government had yielded to Japan's requests every cotton mill in Canada would have been closed. In new Brunswick alone 1,100 textile workers would have been thrown out of unemployment.

This was the view expressed here yesterday by A. O. Dawson of Montreal, president and managing director of Canadian Cottons Limited, the Dominion Woollen and Worsteads Limited, Belding Corticelli Limited and the Cornwall and York Cotton Mills Company Limited.

"Textile imports from Japan are not heavy," Mr. Dawson said in an interview, "due to the dump duty in Canada. But if the government had yielded to Japanese demands, every cotton mill in the Dominion would have had to close its doors."

Belfast Italians Complain to Rome

Associated Press

Belfast, July 25.—Complaints by Italians resident in Belfast against eviction from their homes during the recent disturbances were forwarded to Rome to-day.

Total evictions of all persons concerned exceeded 500, Roman Catholics being forced to leave Protestant areas and Protestants being forced out of Catholic districts. A number of Italians were among those affected.

Canadians Were Executed In War

"Red Patch" to Reveal Stories of Men Shot at Dawn in France

Canadian Press

Toronto, July 25.—"Dispelling the rumor no Canadians were executed" during the Great War, "The Red Patch," official record of the First Canadian Division, now being prepared, will reveal the story of those who were executed for cowardice and desertion according to Harry E. Munn.

"Our history," said Mr. Munn, who is head of the divisional association sponsoring the book, could give the name and the picture story of every man who was shot in the Canadian Corps, but the painful part of the war will be treated dispassionately by the historian, who is responsible of course for what goes into the volume."

Mr. Munn said Kim Beattie, soldier-newspaperman-author, was acting as historian of the book. He said the feelings of relatives of the men would be respected, but it was proposed to "furnish the book with a graphic and hitherto unpublished portrayal of executions in the grim dawn."

It would dispel the rumor that still persists that no Canadians were executed and that those condemned to die for desertion were confined in a secret prison and released at the end of hostilities.

Proposals Are Not Discussed

Canadian Press

Ottawa, July 25.—Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, to-day denied a Canadian Press report from Montreal on Tuesday that he had announced legislation proposed by Hon. H. H. Stevens and the royal commission on price spreads would be discussed at the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, to be held at Halifax in September.

"I made no such announcement," Mr. Moore said. "I was not in Montreal Tuesday. I consider the report unfair because it would indicate the Congress was changing its policy of past years of non-participation in party politics."

The Montreal story was an erroneous report of the annual convention call issued from Ottawa by Mr. Moore and P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer of the Congress, and fully covered by the Canadian Press July 9. In the circular, measures based on the price spreads commission report were mentioned as subjects for review before the Congress. The name of Mr. Stevens was not mentioned.

The Canadian Press regrets this error and is glad to make this correction.

NEW CABLE SAID TO BRING TELEVISION NEAR

Telling of great advances in the telephonic fields and asking for permission to arrange installation between New York and Philadelphia of a test circuit of a new type of electrical cable that promises to revolutionize the communications industry, Dr. Frank Jewett, president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, won an assurance from the Federal Communications Commission in Washington that a license for the test would be granted. Judge Eugene Skyes, left, was listening while Dr. Jewett revealed how the cable can carry 200 messages at one time and makes possible the transmission of television pictures over hitherto impossible distances.

CHILD SOUGHT AS DALAI LAMA

Monks Search Tibet For Baby to Become Supreme Head of Buddhist Religion

Associated Press

Lhasa, Tibet, July 25.—The search for Tibet's new Dalai Lama—the unknown baby reposing in some humble manger or costly crib in this land of ancient mystery—had officially begun to-day.

A mission of leading monks, accompanied by four soothsayers, was en route from Lhasa to the Holy Kali Lake, where they expected to see the baby's present home mirrored in its waters.

Awaiting this future supreme ruler of Buddhism's 150,800,000 followers is the sacred, ancient "test by fire and water." Holy flames and water brought from the seven holy rivers of India are important in the selection of the infant who will become "the patron of angels and all living things."

The last Dalai Lama died in December, 1933, and since then giant prayer-wheels in the Pota-la Dalai's palace in this forbidden city of Lhasa have been spinning as the wise men prepared for their quest.

Plentifully supplied with gold to protect them against corruption, the mission will visit some 300 homes scattered throughout Tibet whence claims have come that the young son of the house was born at the exact moment the former Dalai Lama died.

The exact moment of birth is important, for Tibetans believe the Dalai Lama's immortal soul enters into the body of some new-born baby at the instant of his death.

A score, perhaps, of infant candidates, will be chosen and brought to Lhasa for the final test and choice by the grand council of Lamas.

GERMAN DEBT IS INCREASING

Associated Press

Berlin, July 25.—An unofficial calculation based on best available private figures to-day indicated Adolf Hitler's monthly expenditures to rearm the Reich average about 600,000,000 marks.

A secret debt of about 17,000,000,000 marks has been piled up, financial circles close to the government admit, making the total Reich debt about 30,000,000,000 marks.

The German Reichsmark is currently quoted at just over 40 cents, although transactions within Germany are in blocked marks which cannot be taken from the country, and hence are not quoted on exchanges.

U.S.-GERMANY BREAK DISCUSSED

Associated Press

Washington, July 24.—Senator King, Utah Democrat, told the Senate to-day he would ask an investigation to determine if the United States would be warranted in "severing diplomatic relations" with Germany.

He asserted the Hitler government had been "oppressive to Jews and Catholics" and had failed to "discharge its obligations to the United States."

He said he was preparing a resolution for investigation by the foreign relations committee to ascertain if this country would not be warranted in breaking off relations with Germany.

BODY FOUND ON RAILWAY

Listowel, Ont., July 25 (Canadian Press.)—The mangled body of Dorothy Bender, twenty, employed as a domestic in Listowel, was discovered yesterday near the Canadian National Railway tracks 100 yards north of the bridge at the Maitland Spring plant. Two lads, Murray Cooper and Carl Ludwig, made the discovery after the girl had been reported missing from the home of J. M. Schienbein, where she had been working for the last two months.

Nazis Protest Mayor's Action

New York Hitlerites Assail La Guardia For Refusal to Grant License to German

New York, July 25.—Brooklyn Nazis were protesting to-day against what their spokesman called an "anti-German" action by Mayor F. H. La Guardia.

Speakers at a mass meeting yesterday evening called by the "Friends of New Germany," a pro-Nazi organization, assailed the mayor for his refusal to recognize a commercial treaty placing German citizens on an equal footing with Americans in the professional fields.

The mayor stood solidly behind License Commissioner Paul Moss in the latter's refusal to permit a German alien massage operator to pursue his vocation in New York.

Taking the position it was "well known" that American Jews had been discriminated against in Germany, Mayor La Guardia said "the commercial treaty between Germany and this country has no force or effect because Germany does not respect the reciprocal rights of American citizens."

Gustav A. Mueller, acting German consul-general, said to-night: "Action will be taken from this office and not on orders from Germany. This case is not over yet. It is for the State Department, not for Mayor La Guardia, to decide if treaties have been violated."

PRISON LETTER REPORT AWAITED

Ottawa, July 25.—Penitentiary officials here had no knowledge to-day of the alleged withholding of letters from Norman "Red" Ryan during his incarceration in the Kingston penitentiary. Ryan was released Tuesday evening on ticket-of-leave and yesterday was reported as having been handed letters from his wife which had been held in the warden's office for fourteen years.

Pending a report from the warden, officials could neither confirm nor deny the statement and they declined to offer any possible explanation.

The body was sent to Toronto, where the widow and six children reside.

Mr. Sutton was returning east following a business trip to the Pacific Coast. He had planned to make Edmonton his next stop.

ISLAND MINE CLOSES DOWN

Canadian Press

Nanaimo, B.C., July 25.—Superintendent J. Hunt of the Western Fuel Corporation of Canada Limited, announced that the Reserve Coal Mine, six miles south of Nanaimo, will be closed indefinitely. The mine shut down yesterday evening, throwing 250 men out of work. Lack of trade in the coal line is given as the reason for the closure.

Some months ago the South Wellington mine closed. Most of the men affected in the new closure are from South Wellington and Ladysmith.

Says Government Change Needed

Saskatchewan Premier Scores Bennett's Course on Relief Incidents

Toronto, July 25.—Canadians desiring to establish a National Government had before them to-day a suggestion from Premier James G. Gardiner of Saskatchewan for its attainment.

"The best way to get national government is the way Prince Edward Island got it—elect all Liberals, Mr. Gardiner, who led the Liberals to victory in Saskatchewan last summer, told a Liberal picnic here yesterday.

Speaking for the first time at a political picnic in his native province, Mr. Gardiner attacked the government of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett for its trade and taxation policies.

If anything showed the need for a change of government in Canada it was the action of the Dominion administration towards his province in the last few weeks, said Premier Gardiner.

"We didn't have a Communist movement to any extent," Mr. Gardiner told the crowd gathered on the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds beside Lake Ontario. "Somebody saw fit to move one army in from the west and one from the east and stage a struggle in the centre of our province against the wishes of the provincial government."

The lesson of this, he believed, was that Canadians could not afford to have a dictatorship "which will override the constitution."

R. W. GRAY SPEAKS

Ross W. Gray, M.P. for West Lambton, Ont., praised Premier Gardiner for his diplomacy in handling affairs at Regina. Mr. Gray accused the Dominion Government of not giving the Canadian National Railways a chance, and charged Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the newly-formed Reconstruction Party, with having been a supporter of high tariffs.

Will Visit North 'Tropical' Valleys

Camsell Plane Party Mapping Southeastern Yukon Will See Famed Spots

Canadian Press

Ottawa, July 25.—Indian stories from the north that tropical valleys, filled with luxurious vegetation, exist in northern British Columbia, green oases in the midst of snowcapped mountains, will be investigated by Dr. Charles Camsell, Deputy Minister of Mines. He has left Ottawa for the west to begin a 10,000-mile exploration trip designed primarily to gather information on one of the last remaining blank spots on maps of northern Canada.

For years tales have reached Ottawa that tropical valleys exist in an unmapped area along the Yukon-Northwest Territory boundary. Several have been found, fed by hot springs, with tropical plants growing in profusion. There have been tales of prehistoric animals surviving in the valley, but they have remained tales.

CAMPED IN 1898

As early as 1898, during the Klondike gold rush, Dr. Samsell camped in one of the hot spring valley's farther south, and more recently Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Henry of Philadelphia found one, perhaps the same one.

Dr. Camsell plans to explore the area from the air in a plane piloted by C. H. "Punch" Dickens, a veteran northern flier. He will be accompanied by A. D. McLean, superintendent of airways, Department of National Defence, and W. H. Sutherland, photographer. The blind spot contains 25,000 square miles through which white men never have traveled.

REPORTS ABROAD ANNOY GERMANS

Canadian Press via Havas

Berlin, July 25.—The German press to-day raised a chorus of protest at what it termed "exaggerated and sensational" foreign reports of anti-Jewish activities in Germany.

"Bloody excesses in other countries are hardly recorded," the official German news agency (DNB) declared.

"It would be a mistake to believe the foreign press would adopt the same attitude and protest against the persecution of Catholics in northern Ireland," said The Germania.

"Evidently the British press finds it painful," said The Morgen Post, "that pillaging and fires have continued for two weeks (in northern Ireland). For that reason it gives grotesquely-exaggerated reports on the persecution of Jews in Germany."

OPTIMISTIC SENATORS

AT THE MEETING OF THE VICTORIA Conservative Association held on Tuesday evening, Senator G. H. Barnard was congratulated on having resided in this city for half a century, and in those felicitations The Times finds it a pleasure to join. But in acknowledging them, the Senator, speaking, of course, on political questions of the day in general and in particular the prospects for Conservatism in Victoria at the forthcoming general election, seemed to be whistling to keep up the party's courage.

Senator Barnard is reported to have referred to the fact that Victoria had remained a Conservative seat in the House of Commons for twenty-seven years, and that when the electors weighed the evidence of positive and tangible policies expressed by the Conservative Party on the one hand, against the absence of policy and the evasion of issues expressed by opponents of the Ottawa administration on the other, there would be little doubt of the outcome. We naturally conclude that Senator Barnard intended to imply that Victoria, after the election, still would be represented by a Conservative in the House of Commons. No doubt it was his legal mind which prevented him from making the rash statement that the next government at Ottawa would be a Conservative one.

At a meeting of Ward Five Conservatives last night, however, Senator R. F. Green was not so fortunate in the language he used to express his sentiments on the issue with which the people will be called upon to deal shortly. Here is one statement credited by the morning paper to Senator Green: "This is the time for the sane people of Canada to get together and see to it that no experimental legislation is put on the statute books. It is a time for stable government, and, given that, the time is coming when prosperity such as we have never known before will come to this country."

This statement furnishes its own commentary, for one of the ministers of the present government announced during the session of Parliament just concluded that in February of this year the number of persons in Canada drawing relief in one form or another was 1,341,942—the number of unemployed five years ago, when Mr. Bennett took office, was 117,000. In June, 1931, after the tariff had been boosted, the number increased to 471,668, and in eleven months after it had grown to 725,000.

Then Senator Green also is reported as saying that "history will show that at all times of crises the country has turned towards Conservative policies, and that these policies have brought the country through." The present government was elected at a time when Canada, according to Mr. Bennett and Conservative speakers from coast to coast, was in a state of crisis. And it was the present Prime Minister, when he had only the comparatively small idle army of 117,000, who declared from many platforms that he was going to end unemployment or perish in the attempt. The time for the perishing seems to be overdue.

Take the matter of trade for the five years prior to the advent of the government which had been elected "at a time of crisis" and the trade done in its five years of office. Here are the official figures:

Liberal Government, 1925-1930
Imports into Canada	$ 5,581,130,376
Total exports	6,279,830,614
Total trade	11,860,960,000
Average annual total trade	2,372,192,198

Conservative Government, 1930-1935
Imports into Canada	$2,857,878,701
Total exports	3,097,046,493
Total trade	5,954,925,194
Average annual total trade	1,190,985,038

When trade is cut in half, of course, it must reduce the demand for labor, make taxes more burdensome, and not only that, it naturally follows that fewer taxes are collectable because incomes become lower as fewer goods are exchanged. It would be unfair to blame the Bennett government for all the economic ills which are besetting the country. The fact remains, however, that its tariff policies have seriously aggravated conditions in Canada. The "crisis" not only has not been met, but has gone from only moderately bad to very grave indeed in the last five years.

WAR DECLARED

VANCOUVER ISLAND'S PUBLIC Enemy No. 1 is the earwig. This pestiferous insect took up its residence here about twenty years ago and has left a swarm of descendants which have been playing havoc with every form of vegetation. They have levied tribute upon plants and vegetables with as little discrimination as a Chicago gangster leader showed in his predacious activities. But just as the depredations of the gangster reached a point which forced the law authorities to devise agencies for his destruction, so the earwig has caused the mobilization of defensive measures which in time it is hoped will put an end to its destructive operations.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture has declared war upon the earwig, a war which will be waged with every weapon at its command and which no Geneva convention will be able to moderate or regulate. The commander of the field forces for the protection of our vegetation will be Dominion Entomologist Downs, whose first division will consist of 30,000 parasites now being mobilized and trained in the parasite laboratory. These parasites are equally at home in the air and on the ground, for they can fly. It will be unnecessary, therefore, to organize an aerial force for scouting or bombing.

They also are clever strategists. They do not attack their enemy directly, but lay maggots near the earwig bivouacs. The maggots stealthily crawl upon the earwigs and damage them so badly that, no matter how competent may be the earwig Red Cross and Army Medical Corps, they perish in two weeks. But while this parasitical strategy must prove irresistible, the war is bound to be long and sanguinary, for the earwig army has countless millions, and many divisions of parasites will have to be put in the field before complete victory will be possible.

Victoria is to be the scene of the first grim conflict, but in time the scope of operations will be extended to every district where the earwig forces are to be found.

LOCAL CONSERVATISM

APPARENTLY THERE IS GOING TO be considerable competition in local Conservative circles for the distinction of carrying the banner of a lost cause. A short time ago Mr. D. B. Plunkett, the present sitting member, announced that he would be a candidate for his party nomination. Yesterday Captain Hugh Allan, President of the Victoria Conservative Association, declared that he would go before the party convention for the same purpose. The names of Brigadier Sutherland Brown, W. C. Moresby, K.C., and R. A. Wootton also have been associated with the nomination contest.

Although there have been instances in other constituencies in which the sitting member has not been nominated, the general practice has been to give him an opportunity for re-election if his record has been satisfactory. The implication of the other candidatures, therefore, is that in the opinion of the candidates and those who urge them to seek nomination in this city Mr. Plunkett's record has not met with their approval.

Whoever is nominated, however, will find it difficult to square his support of Mr. Bennett with the severe criticism directed against present-time Conservative policies in this morning's Colonist. Our contemporary attributes the total eclipse of the party it supports to the fact that "Conservatives in office have been attempting to outbid their opponents in matters of Radical and Socialist policy." It declares that "the way of doles and of the dependence of the people on the paternalism of the state is not incorporated in Conservative principles. The Conservatives have entered too much into the role of political bribery and in so doing officialdom has antagonized its own followers."

As the only Conservative government in Canada which has adopted the way of doles and the dependence of the people on the paternalism of the state, is the government at Ottawa, this indictment is evidently levelled against the leader whose policies will be championed by the party candidate in Victoria. Our contemporary plainly enough takes little stock in Mr. Bennett's belated reforms. Will the Victoria candidate take more?

NOT MUCH HEADWAY

UNDOUBTEDLY GREAT BRITAIN'S general economic condition has improved in recent years, but it is rather surprising to learn that there are still more than two millions out of work, or about the same number as five years ago, and 872,000 more than six years ago, when great things were expected of the Labor government. Mr. Thomas, now Secretary of State for the Dominions in the National Government, had fond hopes at that time that he would be able to show the country how unemployment could be abolished altogether. But it did not work out that way.

The debate on this question in the House of Commons recently found the government proud of the fact that with 10,361,000 insured persons between sixteen and sixty-four in employment the country had more people at work than at any time in its history. The obvious opposition answer was "so we ought to have, for we now have a larger population than ever before." Other figures quoted in the House, however, showed that there were twice as many unemployed last month as there were in the brightest of post-war Junes. The Manchester Guardian explains the situation this way:

"Another point worth remembering is not brought out in the Ministry of Labor's statistics without a little arithmetical elaboration. The four divisions of England that lie roughly south of the Trent—London, Southeast, Southwest, and Midlands—contain something like 6,320,000 insured persons, rather over half the insured population of Great Britain. They have 593,000 unemployed—less than 30 per cent of the total. The remaining divisions—the Northeast, Northwest, Scotland and Wales—contain 6,220,000 insured persons; they have 1,400,000 unemployed.

"This is the measure of the problem, and it is not one that is compassed by talking only in terms of 'special' areas and transplanting a few hundred families into subsidized agriculture. Taking only the short view, and looking at the figures for the past month, there is ground for moderate encouragement; only the markedly seasonal trades show a decline. Juvenile unemployment, however, keeps high, a disquieting index."

Whether a Labor or Labor-Liberal government could do any better than the so-called National Government is doing in the matter of Britain's unemployment problem is problematical. But if the results of the by-elections which have been held since the general elections of 1931 suggest anything, they suggest that the electorate is not satisfied with what has been accomplished in the last four years. Nor does the electorate seem satisfied with the foreign policy which has been pursued, since many of the by-elections have been fought on these two major issues—and governmental majorities have been cut in practically every instance by between 8,000 and 10,000.

HUNTING

I've never ridden to the hounds nor thrilled to hear their cry,
I've never hunted quail nor grouse nor blackbirds for a pie.
I've never gone to Africa in search of mighty game.
The springbok may be something, but to me it's just a name;
Yet in great wide open spaces I have squandered time enough
With those dismal searching parties hunting golf balls in the rough.

I've never packed a rifle, and the hills I've never tramped.
With the men who hunt for antelope at night I've never camped.
I own no coat of scarlet since I never hunt for deer,
But I've battled with mosquitoes and the wild life winging here.
And I've stood knee deep in thistles and that tangled jungle stuff
With some wild-eyed slicing comrade hunting golf balls in the rough.

Loose Ends

As they do it in New York—where you need only names—and no ideas—and it's easy to fill a column with celebrities.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

EASY MONEY

IN THIS business of enlightening the public, it is a serious disadvantage to operate in a small city. It is far easier to operate in a large one. I mean to say, the New York papers are full of columns that have nothing in them but the names of celebrities, with a few odd and vulgar facts about them, and the public is delighted. When you can say something unimportant about a celebrity, it is far more entertaining to the modern public than something important about an idea.

People used to be interested in ideas, but lately they have become so complicated, what with the depression and Communism and the revolution and Mr. Stevens, that they are rather out of vogue now. People prefer to read about other people because it requires no thought and it makes them feel that they are getting intimate with the great. Why, half the female population of America lives on its intimate knowledge of Hollywood's love life, which is its sole inspiration and the only religion it has.

But in a place like this, as Jim Butterfield of The Province observed the other day, there aren't enough celebrities to go around. You need about fifty a day, and you wouldn't have material for more than a week or so. But it would be nice, easy work. For example, all that a New York columnist, like Mr. O. O. McIntyre, has to do to earn five times the salary of the Canadian Prime Minister is to keep his important thoughts to himself and set down his unimportant ones for the public. If a fellow like that were operating here all he would have to do of a morning, instead of thinking up an idea, would be to stroll through town and record his impressions and jot down the names of people he met, with an air of easy familiarity, as if he were the bosom pal of each. Thus:

CELEBRITIES

THOUGHTS while strolling: Jack Hart has a new Chrysler and all the disappointed salesmen for other breeds of car will vote Conservative after this . . . George I Warren carries fifteen cigars in his vest to make American tourists feel at home . . . but that keeps the overhead of a publicity commissioner pretty high . . . Premier Pattullo's lunch consists of one orange and a walk around the block . . . What does poor old Herb Anscomb, the original Tory die-hard, think of the Conservative Party now that it's got religion and turned to the Left? . . . Cornelius Moriarty of the Canadian Press looks like an African big game hunter in his new sun helmet, but the weather turned cool as soon as he'd screwed up courage to wear it . . . Chief Heatley gives a noble example to the public in stopping his car for about five minutes at every stop sign . . . but it's a nuisance for those behind him . . . Professor King Gordon doesn't look like a Socialist . . . but is probably the best C.C.F. candidate in Canada . . . J. W. Jones, who used to be minister of finance, looks like a man who might yield and accept a Conservative nomination if the pressure becomes too great to resist.

MORE CELEBRITIES

GERRY McGEER, over seeing he government, looks twenty years older since he became mayor of Vancouver . . . wonder if he still thinks you can do that job in ten minutes a day? . . . The fine old Victorian relics of a better day in tweed hats decorated with fly hooks, tweed coats, flannel trousers and brogues are fast dying out and giving place to a luncheon-club civilization . . . The newspapermen seem annoyed that they can't attend the inquiry into the Niagara collision, as if shipwrecks were any of the public's business . . . Fred McGregor never really did believe there was a depression, and has seen prosperity around the corner so often you'd think he'd get a stiff neck . . . Jim Beatty used to be a member of the Legislature but has just about lived it down now . . . Dr. K. C. MacDonald, a dentist from Vernon, is the best minister of agriculture British Columbia has ever had . . . Dr. Carrothers, of the B. C. Brain Trust, looks too round, pink and happy for an economist in the midst of a revolution . . . he's the only brain left in the trust now . . . Mr. Posey, the shoeshiner, says there would be no unemployment if everybody would go to work, which is the only profound truth that has come out of the depression . . . Harry Pooley's new sun helmet is made of straw, comes from California, and has an air-cooling system useful for a Conservative war-horse on the eve of battle in dear old Esquimalt . . . makes him look like Stanley discovering Livingstone in darkest Africa . . . and he can't see why they have to hold elections in the middle of the fishing season in the Cariboo . . .

AND MORE

THE FELLOW who drives the white tourists' tally-ho with the top hat is the best-dressed man in town . . . The Bright Spot Barbecue on North Quadra Street has a wonderful recipe for a hot chicken sandwich . . . Advertisement in The Colonist urges Victoria motorists to "change to winter oil now," which is good advertising for tourists . . . Hon. Wells Gray buys more new hats than any man in British Columbia . . . Tom Merriman always sunburns like a boiled lobster and can never achieve a tan, but he keeps on trying year after year . . . Young men in financial offices always get fat about the gills and develop a bond dealer's bulge and an appetite for coffee at 10.30 in the morning . . . half the summer gone and Caddy not seen once, another leading local industry wrecked by the depression . . . For violent physical gymnastics see the fellows trying to attract tourists to sightseeing busses at the wharf with silent gestures, now that they can't shout . . . Les Fox's horses invariably come in last . . . Joe North used to be police commissioner and there hasn't been any real fun in the town since then . . . Several fellows want to carry the Conservative banner here, and yet they say the age of chivalry is dead . . . The salesman who sold me Golden Calf doesn't ring up three times a day any more now that it's down 50 per cent . . . If Ymir Consolidated is a big success, several eminent Victorians will retire and Alex Manson will be able to devote all his time to his constituents of Omineca . . . Wonder how these fellows who write all the letters on evolution to the newspapers have any time to earn a living? . . .

LOOK-ALIKES

ANOTHER favorite brain exercise for New York columnists is to think up lists of people who look alike. Victoria look-alikes: George I. Warren and Jack Hart, Dr. Tolmie and J. W. Jones, Chief Heatley and the soldiers in the Buckingham cigarette pictures, Joe North and "Winnipeg" Chilton, Hugh Allan and Sir John A. Macdonald, Work and Wages and Cadborosourus, Mayor Leeming and Captain Vancouver, D. B. Plunkett and General Custer's Last Stand.

Dear me, I had only intended to jot down a few distinguished names here by way of illustrating the easy life of fellows who operate columns in New York, and I find it so easy that this whole column is filled, without a single idea among forty-seven eminent citizens

As Premier Pattullo said to newspaper correspondents at the Parliament Buildings the other day, in the newspaper business you can't stop for a rest, and he knows, having written than that when you are operating sold subscriptions and learned politics all at once in his youth. "You have got to milk the cow every day," said the Premier. Yes, but it is worse than that when you aret operating a column. You have no cow to milk. Only the bull. And that, my friends, is different.

APPRECIATION

To the Editor:—Before leaving Victoria for my home in California, I wish to pay my humble tribute to the work of your newly-formed Tourist Trade Development Association.

I have been coming to Victoria with my family once a year for the past five years and without wishing to offend the good people of Victoria, I want to say that at a band concert given on your new Show Boat at the Inner Harbor this week, I, for the first time, felt that the people of Victoria welcomed its visitors. I listened to a splendid concert set in a very beautiful setting; I and my family occupied a comfortable seat and we were pleased to hear from the gentleman in charge of the entertainment a personal welcome given to the people from my state.

The fact that no charge was made for the seats; that the entertainment was provided for Victoria's visitors and that we were specifically welcomed, prompted us to contribute generously to the optional collection which was taken up.

After visiting Victoria for five years, I leave you this year with the feeling that you appreciate my visits and want me to come back.

RELIEF

To the Editor:—As we sit in the relief office trying to sign on as relief workers for jobs which we used to hold at one time as regular members of the city's outside staff, we read once again the mayor has said "no maintenance work in the city is being carried on by relief labor."

As one whose former job with the city is now being done as relief work may I put these questions to the mayor?

Was there a staff of men on the city payroll proper at one time employed watering and mowing the boulevards?

Have these men been fired?

Is this work now done as relief work?

Were between ten and fifteen men employed regularly on street upkeep work fired about two years ago?

Is this work now done as relief work?

Have any truck drivers been fired from the city staff?

Are relief workers used as truck drivers?

Was the interior painting and decorating of the City Hall done as a relief job instead of a straight job for painters and decorators.

Is essential police work being done as relief work?

The city may have a reason for forcing tradesmen into the relief class by placing the work that should give men an opportunity to work at their

OKLAHOMA CITY CHARGES FEE FOR PARKING

Oklahoma City is the first city in the United States to charge a fee for parking in the street. Meters are installed on the curb in the downtown section, and upon parking a motorist drops a nickel in the meter adjoining his car. A clockwork mechanism raises a red indicator that remains in position for the allotted time, fifteen minutes on congested streets, a half hour on some, and an hour on other streets, motorcycle policemen who patrol the streets issue summons to motorists who are parked with no indicator showing. This picture shows a row of parking meters, and, inset, a close-up of one of them.

Sooke Celebration Attracts Thousands

Great Crowds Gather at Sooke River Flats to Pay Tribute to the Progress of the District; Salmon Barbecue and Clam Chowder Feature Dishes; Good Sports

With approximately 3,000 persons from Victoria, Sooke, Metchosin, Cobble Hill and other island centres in attendance, as well as United States tourists, the second annual Sooke reunion was held yesterday afternoon at the Sooke River flats. From every point of view the celebration was a big success and the various committees are to be congratulated on the way the affair was conducted.

Starting with the children's races at 12.30 o'clock, the celebration continued until the small hours of this morning, when the curtain rang down on the gathering with the playing of the home waltz at the two big dances in the Sooke and Charter's halls.

Surrounded by beautiful trees and blue water, the Sooke flats presented a colorful scene as the thousands of competitors and spectators milled back and forth. The refreshment stands and tombola tents were a hive of industry during the whole day, while it was practically impossible to get near the children's stand where free ice cream and lemonade were given away.

The salmon barbecue and clam chowder feast held at the conclusion of the sports was unquestionably the feature of the day. Conducted by the Sooke Harbor fishermen, the feast brought forth nothing but praise from those who partook of the free refreshments. Twenty-six hundred rolls, donated by Rennie & Taylor, were handed out to the picnickers along with plates of salmon, while over sixty gallons of clam chowder were served. The committee could have used as much chowder again, as it ran out before everyone had been satisfied. Fifteen hundred pounds of salmon, donated by Sooke fishermen, were barbecued over the fire troughs that had been constructed for the occasion. Most of the picnickers visited the fire-troughs to see the fishermen cooking the big salmon over the open fire, and the cooks were probably the most photographed of any in the celebration.

PLENTY DOING

Starting shortly after noon, there was something doing all day long. There were track and field events for both young and old, baseball tossing, log rolling and log birling, tree chopping, tug-of-war, greasy pole and greasy pig, claim staking for gold, high and broad jumping and relay races. In fact, there was not a dull moment during the afternoon, as the various events were run off in quick order. Rowles's Boys' Band provided excellent music throughout the day.

Horseshoe pitching was given a prominent part in the programme, and drew many entries. Elimination rounds were conducted in conjunction with other events. G. Ledingham, who won in the finals after a stiff battle, was presented with a trophy donated by C. E. Whitney-Griffiths at the presentation ceremony which followed the sports.

An event that proved to be a "howling" success was the baby contest for The Times Trophy. Thirty mothers entered their babies, who ranged in ages from two months to three years, so that Dr. R. H. Wiggins, who judged the entrants, had quite a task on his hands. After a lengthy elimination round, six babies were selected, and from these the judge picked his three winners. Mrs. A. Murray, Colwood, won first prize with her two-month-old baby girl, Lorene, and was presented with The Times prize. Mrs. Charles Helgeson, Metchosin, took second place with Isabelle, while Mrs. T. Robertson, Cobble Hill, captured third place with her baby boy Donald. Each baby entered in the contest received a prize from the Vancouver Drug Company.

"PORKY" ANDREWS SHINES

George "Porky" Andrews, well-known member of the Blue Ribbon Canadian championship basketball team, cleaned up in the open track and field events. The Victoria youth took the 100 yards open, the broad jump, the hop-step-and-jump, and a second in the relay race. Many other young local athletes entered in the different races and field events, but were given stiff opposition by their Sooke rivals.

Probably one of the most exciting and spectacular events was the tree-chopping competition. Four thick poles, approximately twenty inches in diameter, were embedded in the ground. Each contestant had to chop two indentures in this pole for his springboard, and then commence to chop the tree in half in regular woodsman style. E. Robinson, winner of the event, was in a class by himself when it came to wielding a double-bitted axe, and he finished well ahead of Earl Howard, who captured second place. Robinson made it two in a row as he took the log bucking contest with plenty to spare.

A demonstration of real muscular strength was presented to the spectators in the log-rolling competition. In this event, a twelve-foot log, approximately a foot and a half in diameter, had to be rolled up a forty-five degree incline with a peevee in the shortest possible time. Harry Helgeron peeved the log into the slips in seventeen and a half seconds to take first place. Close behind in second place came Harry George, who made the grade in twenty-one seconds flat. Both men were well applauded.

Victoria runners headed the field in the 400 yards men's relay race, with the team of Rowe, Trimball, Sutton and Elliott winning first place and taking the cup and four medals donated by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines. An all Victoria team of Sheppard, MacMurchie, Andrews and Elliott picked off second place in a close finish.

Metchosin gave the Sooke huskies a stiff battle for The Colonist tug-of-war trophy, but greater staying power was the deciding factor, and the Sooke boys retained the cup for the second year running. Close on 2,000 persons witnessed the event, and both teams were given plenty of moral support in the way of cheers. The winning team was as follows: H. Helgesen, E. Underwood, R. Pontious, J. Forrest, H. Welch, J. McDermott and T. Nelson.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture; C. H. Dickie, M.P.; R. H. Pooley, K.C., M.P.P., and C. E. Whitney-Griffiths presented the prizes toward the close of the afternoon. All of them, in a few well-chosen words, congratulated the residents of Sooke on their fine display of community spirit.

The Klondike Gold Rush tent proved very popular all afternoon, and many tombola tickets were disposed off by the committee in charge of the enclosure. Here the spirit of '98 was reacted as the contestants purchased permits to stake claims with the hopes of winning a "fortune." The staking lot was will pitted with claim stakes by the end of the day.

C. A. Helgeson was starter and handicapper, and Robert Acreman and Harold Pontious, judges. The chairmen of the various committees in charge of the arrangements were as follows: H. Goodrich, executive committee; George H. Jones, prize committee; A. Glinz, finance committee; C. A. Helgeson, athletic committee; A. L. Wilson, dance commitee; R. Robillard, publicity committee; S. L. Shields, grounds and property committee; P. W. Taylor, reception commitee, and A. F. Brownsey, secretary.

Piles Go Quick

With Dr. Leonhardt's Prescription

Many sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have found out that quick relief can be had with an internal medicine.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel is the cause of piles. The veins are congested and flabby, the bowel walls weak. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used. HEM-ROID stimulates the circulation, relieves the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who spent several years of his professional life in finding the cause of piles and the medicine that would remove them. His medicine succeeds because it tends to correct the cause.

No matter what kind of piles you have or how long you have had them, if you want to try HEM-ROID, you have our promise to give you back your money if you do not find quick and satisfying relief, after using just one bottle.

UNITEDS WIN BY SHUTOUT

Whip A. and Q. 2 to 0 in Vancouver Baseball; Bellingham in Hitting Spree

Vancouver, July 25.—Three errors at the critical stages of the game cost Arnold and Quigley of the Senior City Baseball League a 2 to 0 defeat at the hands of Uniteds in a league game at Athletic Park yesterday evening.

Both teams played airtight ball until the seventh inning, when Lewis, veteran A. and Q. twirler, began to weaken. Eddy Henry, Uniteds, cracked out a homer with no one aboard. McLarney singled and was advanced to third on a sacrifice from where he came home on an infield out.

Arnold and Quigley made a vain bid to tie the score in the eighth when a double play ruined their chances.

Bellingham, July 25.—Smashing the offerings of three chuckers for twenty-five bingles, the Bellingham Boosters blasted out a 24 to 1 win over the Vancouver Athletic Club, senior league leaders, in an intercity league battle under the lights here yesterday evening.

Ted Clarke, Bellingham skipper, was the hitting hero with a home run, two triples and a single in six times at bat.

Jerseys Continue Fine Record at Royal Show at Newcastle

Montreal, July 25. — At the Royal Show at Newcastle the Ovaltine Jersey herd continued its remarkable record of success by gaining eleven awards. These include the Conyngham Challenge Cup which is awarded for the highest aggregate of points in the Jersey classes. The Ovaltine herd has now won the Conyngham Cup for the third year in succession.

Another notable winner to-day was the Ovaltine Jersey bull, "The Wizard," which gained first prize. This fine two-year-old bull has a splendid record and only recently won first prizes at the Royal Counties, Bath and West Shows.

Already, during the present season, the entries from the Ovaltine Dairy Farm in the leading shows have gained no fewer than seventy-four awards. This brings the total of successes since 1933 to 247, a very fine achievement.

Upper Island Boasts Grand Vacation Resorts

Forbes Landing and Upper Campbell Lake Among Best Known

A pleasant day's drive to the north of Victoria, far up in the rugged hills and valleys of this amazing Vancouver Island, is a country that for natural grandeur and moving beauty of sky and hill cannot be surpassed. It is the country of the Campbell River, with its windings and turnings . . . of Forbes Landing and its unsurpassed hospitality, where the river glides out into Campbell Lake, and of the region of Upper Campbell Lake. A country where the hills . . . many would call them mountains . . . lie, fold upon fold, like mammoth crouching animals, asleep. A country, where the trees stretch up and ever up, in a cover of green pointing fingers. Thick wooded timberlands, that cover the great hills like a heavy blanket and nestle into the hollows in the valleys like soft green velvet. If there is a bare spot at all, nature has adorned it in her own inimitable way, at this particular time of the year with the rich wine-purple of the fireweed, spike after spike of it, reaching up and away as far as the eye can see. There are good motor roads and many hiking trails. Rushing rivers to follow and still pools to fish. Here is a country to please all.

From the little town of Campbell River on the eastern seacoast of Vancouver Island the highway winds away through the woodland, up over the hills and down into the valleys. It follows an ever-changing scene from sunrise to sunset. The nature lover will find some new interest every minute of the drive . . . the play of light and shadow over the fireweed on the hills . . . the dappled light of summer's sun under the trees . . . pictures that make the road all too short in its winding route along the Campbell River and down to Forbes Landing, the farthest northwest point on the main highway.

FORBES LANDING HOTEL

At Forbes Landing one finds the Forbes Hotel, truly the mecca of all who live the great outdoors. A rambling frame house, of many windows and wide verandas . . . built many years ago as a private dwelling, this place has down the years, gradually made a spot for itself in the hearts of all holiday seekers. Years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Forbes first extended the hand of friendship to the few adventurous ones who found and followed the beauty of Campbell River and Lake. Now the world comes to their door . . . and stays . . . for Forbes Hotel is known to many for its comfortable quarters and its friendly hospitality.

Vying in popularity with the hotel itself is the "Round House," built by Mr. Forbes to supplement accommodation at the hotel. Octagonal in shape, the sleeping rooms—sixteen of them, finished in polished cedar logs—spiral around a large comfortable lounge. Everything here, as in the main hotel, is spotlessly clean, with all modern conveniences. Good wholesome meals are served, plenty of thick cream and fresh vegetables going into the making of toothsome dishes to please the outdoor vacationist and his hungry appetite. Mr. Forbes also offers cabin accommodation and launches, boats and canoes are available.

One of the special features of the Forbes Hotel is that it is open all the year around. Forbes Landing is situated on the edge of the best hunting ground left on Vancouver Island, which is accessible by road. Forbes Hotel, is, in fact, an ideal hunting lodge. It was and is from this hotel that many noteworthy big game hunts are organized and start. Deer and cougar, bear and wolves are not far off over the hills and Host Forbes knows exactly where to look for them. Duck and grouse, too, are close at hand. It is the same with fish. Host Forbes has an uncanny habit of knowing just where they are biting—and if he says they are there . . . it is safe to try for he is always right.

UPPER CAMPBELL LAKE

From Forbes Landing a good road leads away along the lake to its upper reaches and ends at Upper Campbell Lake Auto Camp. This camp is essentially for those who wish to enjoy camping and fishing to the full. There are good cabins and tenting space. From this camp parties are formed to go further into the great Strathcona Park country and to the famous Buttles Lake. Mr. Sutherland, who owns and operates the auto camp is one of the best-known guides in the country. He personally conducts fishing and hiking parties to some of the most inaccessible points around. Across the lake from the camp is a trail to the top of a high peak famous for the view it gives of wild and rugged country up and down Vancouver Island. Fishing at Upper Campbell Lake is a joy to the most ardent Izaak Walton. Boats and launches are available—and those who follow the road from Forbes Landing are assured of everything that makes a perfect outdoor holiday.

Many People Visit Pet Shop Every Day

Visitors to Victoria invariably find the Pet Shop at 1412 Douglas Street a never ending source of interest. Nearly everyone is interested in animals . . . within this airy, fully modern store are many forms of animal life. Pets there are for all—everyday pets, pets that are different and strange, uncommon pets to please those with a taste for the bizarre.

Dogs, of course, are a favorite with everyone. In the Pet Shop it is possible to buy the most finely bred animal of any breed, then again one may buy "just a dog" for some little child to adore. Cats, too . . . the voluptuous Persians, the thick furred, chocolate toned Siamese . . . all the aristocrats of the feline race find their way at one time or another inside this wonderful shop. There is a sunny space reserved for the aviary and when the sun shines, from many little throats a thousand notes go thrilling through the air. Far back in the store a huge tank of rainbow colored goldfish draws many admiring eyes. Recently, many tanks of tropical fish have been added to the aquarium . . . Minute bits of gleaming life in many gleaming colors that fascinate and hold the interest. The keeping of tropical fish aquariums in the home is becoming a favorite hobby among fanciers.

Within the Pet Shop at any hour of the day can be found a slowly moving throng of people circling among the cages and pens. Old and young, they all are animal lovers.

Lavender and Flowers At "The Retreat"

Lavender! The sweet pungent scent of long rows of deep blue-mauve blossoms—the drowsy hum of bees under a warm summer sun—a rustic tea house in an old English countryside garden, where the hedgerows are clipped close to show all the old fashioned flowers. A rambling, vine clad house where one may have rest and peace amid perfect surroundings. Such is The Retreat, just one mile off the main highway at Craig's Crossing, near Parksville.

The Retreat is unique among island resorts. A perfect gem in a perfect setting. Here, a paying guest is treated with the courtesy of an old friend. If it is a quiet, restful holiday that is wished—so it will be. If it is an outdoor holiday, filled with vacation amusements, that too can be arranged. The grounds stretch in a gentle slope, right to the sea. The water is warm and bathing perfect. A tennis court adds interest to the beauty of the spacious grounds. Another feature of this delightful resort, is the English countryside teas, always served in the garden if weather will at all permit. Tempting English dishes, perfectly cooked, will please the most fastidious. This is true not only of the teas, but of every meal served in this delightful resort.

The Retreat is the mecca for many who look always for something different at the end of a motor run. Its air of dignity, combined with the perfect illusion it gives of a bit of old-world English countryside transplanted to this great new world, is making it increasingly popular.

CHAPTER XXIV

On this day the Soldiers of Liberty congregated during the midday rest period, and, my mind being definitely determined on immediate action, I passed the word around that we would strike during the afternoon at the moment the trumpeter sounded the eleventh hour. As many of us as were working aft near the armory were to make a dash for it with Kiron, who would unlock it in the event that it were locked. The remainder were to attack the soldiers nearest them with anything that they could use as weapons, or with their bare hands if they had no weapons, and take the soldiers' pistols and swords from them. Five of us were to account for the officers. Half of our number was to constantly shout our battle cry, "For liberty!" The other half was instructed to urge the remaining prisoners and the soldiers to join us.

It was a mad scheme and one in which only desperate men could have found hope.

The seventh hour was chosen because at that time the officers were nearly all congregated in the wardroom, where a light meal and wine were served them daily. We should have preferred launching our plan at night, but we feared a continuation of the practice of locking us below deck would prevent, and our experience with Anoos had taught us that we might expect the whole conspiracy to be divulged by another spy at any time; therefore we dared not wait.

I must confess to a feeling of increasing excitement as the hour approached. As, from time to time, I glanced at the other members of our little band, I thought that I could note signs of nervousness in some of them, while others worked on as placidly as though nothing unusual was about to occur. Zog was one of these. He was working near me. He never glanced toward the tower deck from which the trumpeter would presently sound the fateful notes, though it was with difficulty that I kept my eyes from it all. No one would have thought that Zog was planning to attack the soldier lolling near him, nor have imagined that the night before he had murdered a man. He was humming a tune, as he polished the barrel of the big gun on which he was working.

Gamfor and, fortunately, Kiron were working aft, scrubbing the deck, and I saw that Kiron kept scrubbing closer and closer to the door of the armory. How I wished for Kamlot as the crucial moment approached! He could have done so much to insure the success of our coup, and yet he did not even know that such a stroke was contemplated, much less that it was so soon to be launched.

As I glanced about, I met Zog's gaze. Very solemnly he closed his left eye. At last he had given a sign that he was alert and ready. It was a little thing, but it put new heart into me. For some reason, during the past half hour I had felt very much alone.

The time was approaching the zero hour. I moved closer to my guard, so that I stood directly in front of him with my back toward him. I knew precisely what I was going to do, and I knew that it would be successful. Little did the man behind me dream that in a minute, or perhaps a few seconds, he would be lying senseless on the deck, or that the man he guarded would be carrying his sword, his dagger, and his pistol as the last notes of the seventh hour floated sweetly out across the calm waters of this Amtorian sea.

My back was now toward the deck houses. I could not see the trumpeter when he emerged from the tower to sound the hour, but I knew that it could not be long now before he stepped out onto the tower deck. Yet when the first note sounded I was as startled as though I had expected it never to sound. I presume it was the reaction after the long period of nervous tension.

My nervousness, however, was all mental; it did not affect my physical reactions to the needs of the moment. As the first note came softly down to my awaiting ears, I pivoted on a heel and swung my right for the chin of my unsuspecting guard. It was one of those blows that is often described as a haymaker, and it made hay. The fellow dropped in his tracks. As I stooped to recover his arms, pandemonium broke loose upon the deck. There were shrieks and groans and curses, and above all rose the war cry of the Soldiers of Liberty—my band had struck, and it had struck hard.

For the first time now, I heard the wierd staccato hiss of Amtorian firearms. You have heard an X-ray machine in operation? It was like that, but louder and more sinister. I had wrenched the sword and pistol from the scabbard and holster of my fallen guard, not taking the time to remove his belt. Now I faced the scene for which I had so long waited. I saw the powerful Zog wrest the weapons from a soldier, and then lift the man's body above his head and cast it overboard. Evidently Zog had no time for proselyting.

At the door to the armory a battle was being waged; men were trying to enter, and soldiers were shooting them down. I ran in that direction. A soldier leaped in front of me, and I heard the hiss of the death rays that must have passed close to my body, as he tried to stop me. He must have been either nervous or a very poor shot, for he missed me. I turned my own weapon upon him and pressed the lever. The man slumped to the deck with a hole in his chest, and I ran on.

The fight at the door of the armory was hand to hand with swords, and fists, for by now the members of the two factions were so intermingled that none dared use a firearm for fear of injuring a comrade. Into this melee I leaped. Tucking the pistol into the band of my G string, I ran my sword through a great brute who was about to knife Honan; then I grabbed another by the hair and dragged him from the door, shouting to Honan to finish him—it took too long to run a sword into a man and then pull it out again. What I wanted was to get into the armory to Kiron's side and help him.

All the time I could hear my men shouting, "For liberty!" or urging the soldiers to join us—as far as I had been able to judge, all the prisoners had already done so. Now another soldier barred my way. His back was toward me, and I was about to seize him and hurl him back to Honan and the others who were fighting at his side, when I saw him slip his dagger into the heart of a soldier in front of him and, as he did so, cry, "For liberty!" Here was one convert at least. I did not know it them, but at that time there were already many such.

When I finally got into the armory, I found Kiron issuing arms as fast as he could pass them out. Many of the mutineers were crawling through the windows of the room to get weapons, and to each of these Kiron passed several swords and pistols, directing the men to distribute them on deck.

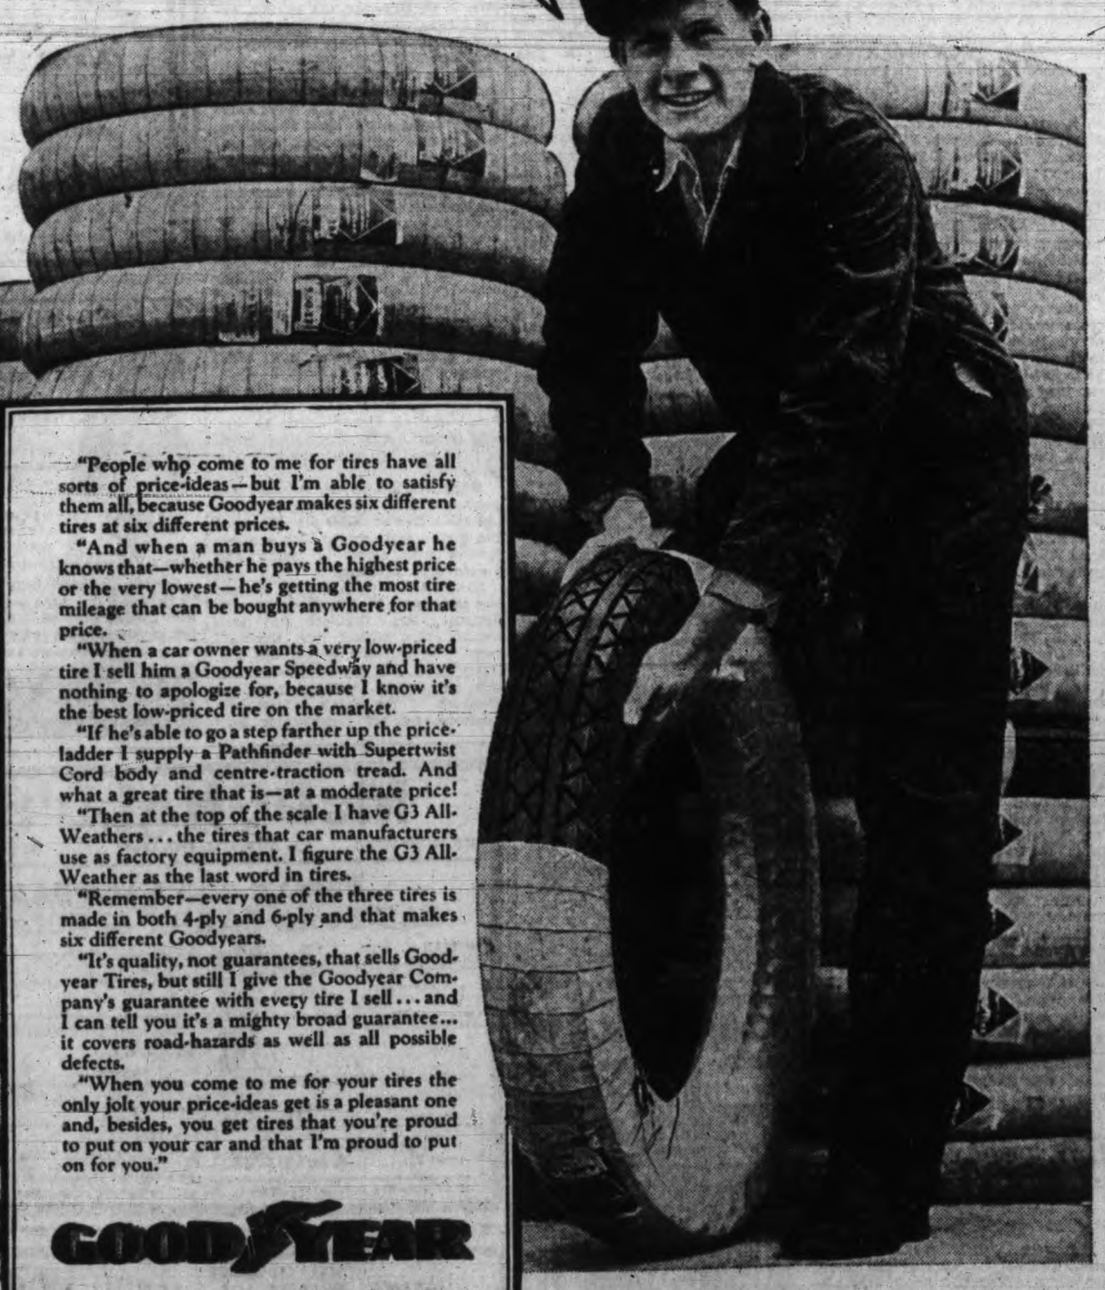
GOODYEARS GIVE YOU BIG VALUE AT 6 DIFFERENT PRICES



"People who come to me for tires have all sorts of price-ideas—but I'm able to satisfy them all, because Goodyear makes six different tires at six different prices.

"And when a man buys a Goodyear he knows that—whether he pays the highest price or the very lowest—he's getting the most tire mileage that can be bought anywhere for that price.

"When a car owner wants a very low-priced tire I sell him a Goodyear Speedway and have nothing to apologize for, because I know it's the best low-priced tire on the market.

"If he's able to go a step farther up the price-ladder I supply a Pathfinder with Supertwist Cord body and centre-traction tread. And what a great tire that is—at a moderate price!

"Then at the top of the scale I have G3 All-Weathers ... the tires that car manufacturers use as factory equipment. I figure the G3 All-Weather as the last word in tires.

"Remember—every one of the three tires is made in both 4-ply and 6-ply and that makes six different Goodyears.

"It's quality, not guarantees, that sells Goodyear Tires, but still I give the Goodyear Company's guarantee with every tire I sell ... and I can tell you it's a mighty broad guarantee... it covers road-hazards as well as all possible defects.

"When you come to me for your tires the only jolt your price-ideas get is a pleasant one and, besides, you get tires that you're proud to put on your car and that I'm proud to put on for you."

YACHT RACE TO BE BROADCAST

Tacoma-Nanaimo Event Will Be Heard Over KVI at Various Times Friday

For the first time since its inception some years ago, the Pacific Northwest's famous international yacht race will be broadcast to-morrow, the special events and features department of station KVI, Tacoma, has made arrangements for a complete and graphic description of the start of the race, as the boats leave from the Tacoma municipal docks for Nanaimo.

The race is the largest international yacht competition in the world, both from point of entries and the distance of the course. At present more than ninety craft are registered. The contestants include the foremost yachtsmen of western Washington and Canada. The route of the run, which is approximately 150 nautical miles, includes several spots of rather "bad water." However, the event has been planned in advance so that each boat will pass through the difficult channels and passages under the best possible conditions.

Since the race calls for all the boats to finish at the same time, rather than to start together, there will be several broadcast periods, so as to describe as many departures as possible. The winner of the race will be picked upon navigation ability, and the one who makes the best time will not necessarily win.

Maurie Webster and Mac McAllister of KVI's staff will announce the events at the starting line. The tentative broadcasting arrangements announced by Chief Engineer James Wallace, call for a pick-up point on the dock beside the starting line, and a short-wave transmitter aboard one of the yachts. Mac McAllister is planning to journey to Nanaimo aboard the cruiser Heljin, from which point the short-wave broadcast will be presented. He will combine business with pleasure, and the weather permitting, hopes to enjoy the cruise.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

JEALOUSY MAY BE REASON BEHIND CHILD'S BAD HABITS

We are loath to ascribe a child's behavior to jealousy. Such an emotion seems to be an adult one applicable only to adulthood. But the emotion a child feels toward sisters, brothers, parents and playmates differs not one whit from that suffered by adults in their family or love relationships. And what is more the child has less ability to argue himself out of the emotion, since he is ignorant of the source of his suffering.

The commonest example of childish jealousy is that offered by the nose-out-of-joint older child when a new baby arrives in the family. We know the looks of jealousy but we are not always prepared for the behavior which accompanies it.

JEALOUSY SYMPTOMS

A three-year-old after having been accustomed to dry habits for some months began wetting her clothes and bed shortly after the advent of a new baby sister. The mother, wisely, made no direct comment but did make a conscious effort to applaud her ability to feed herself, to go to the bathroom herself—all the things baby sister could not do. She made such a virtue of the child's self reliance that the three-year-old began looking for new ways to prove her "bigness." The wetting, incidentally, ended as abruptly as it began.

Such behavior and other, even less comprehensible—the inexplicable incorrigibility, even of children old enough to be reasoned with; the open dislike of a new baby, or the menacing desire and efforts to harm it, the older child's adoption of all kinds of dependent habits, which heretofore have been abandoned, are pointedly indicative of jealousy.

WEAPONS TO USE

Children should be prepared for expected babies and become accustomed to their new place in the family. Our leaflet, "How to Prevent Jealousy," will acquaint the mother with the weapons to be used against it. The leaflet may be had for a self-addressed and three-cent stamp envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Parents should recognize that jealousy is born of a feeling of inferiority and that all of the child's behavior mirrors his efforts to pull himself to a position of superiority to this new individual who has robbed him of it. Offer the older child the position of independent, self-reliant, loved helper and then his resentment and jealousy will disappear and with it the undesirable behavior.

SEDUCTION CASE IS RECALLED

Canadian Press

Edmonton, July 25.—Vivian MacMillan, twenty-three-year-old Edson, Alta., girl, will be married August 7 to Henry Sorenson, Danish-Canadian storekeeper, The Edmonton Journal says in a copyright story to-day.

Both Miss MacMillan, one-time stenographer in the Attorney-General's office here, and Sorenson, questioned by The Journal, laughingly said they had "nothing to announce."

The couple will reside in Edson after the marriage, the paper says.

A year ago Miss MacMillan, acting as co-plaintiff with her father, sued former Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta for seduction. The jury found there had been seduction and awarded damages which Presiding Judge W. C. Ives denied.

Weddings

WILLSON—CALDWELL

A wedding was quietly solemnized this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the vestry of the First United Church, when Rev. E. W. Horton united in marriage Margaret Isabel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Caldwell, 2321 Cook Street, and Mr. Roy Willson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Willson, High Street, Saanich.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore an ensemble of heavy white silk, the three-quarter length coat being trimmed with faggoting in the revers. Her hat was of white silk, trimmed with a blue and white polka dot bow in front. She wore a corsage of rosebuds and swansonia.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Kathleen Caldwell, who wore a frock of navy blue taffeta, with silk coat to match and a navy blue hat, turned off the face and lined with white silk. She wore a corsage of sweet peas.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Harvey Gray.

At the conclusion of the marriage service a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a number of guests assembled to offer their felicitations. Mrs. Caldwell received the guests wearing a dress of powder blue silk crepe, patterned in white, a navy blue hat trimmed with white gardenia and finished with a nose veil. She was assisted by Mrs. Willson in tan silk crepe with hat to match.

The bridal party stood in the embrasure in the living-room which was flanked with tall standard baskets filled with Shasta daisies and gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. Willson left on the afternoon boat for Seattle and, on their return to Victoria will make their home on Rowland Avenue, Saanich.

Among the wedding gifts was a silver tea service from the members of the staff of the General Warehouse Limited, of which the bride has been a member.

The only out-of-town guest at the wedding was Mrs. J. Stirling of Los Angeles, cousin of the bride.

WILLIAMSON-JAYNES

The many Victoria friends of the bride, who resided here when her parents were attached to local Salvation Army headquarters, will be interested in the wedding solemnized on July 20, at the home of the bride's parents, 4303 West Eleventh, Vancouver, when Myrtle, daughter of Major and Mrs. M. Jaynes, became the bride of Mr. Keith Williamson, son of Mrs. Williamson and the late J. Williamson, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Major Jaynes, father of the bride.

Given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Victor Jaynes, the bride wore white lace in princess silhouette featuring a slight cowl neckline and full sleeves, and carried a bouquet of rosebuds, carnations and lily of the valley. Holding her train was little Miss Marion Middleton in pink organza with matching rosebuds in her hair.

As her sister's bridesmaid, Miss Daisy Jaynes was gowned in blue organza with matching picture hat trimmed with pink velvet and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and blue delphinium. Mrs. R. B. Middleton played the wedding march and accompanied Miss Dorothy Allan and Mr. Cecil Jaynes, who sang. Mr Harry Taylor of Victoria was best man.

The bridal couple received under a canopy of pink and white ribbons from which hung a large white bell. Covering the bridal table was a lace cloth, centred by a three-tier wedding cake, flanked by white tapers and pink rosebuds in silver holders. Mr. R. B. Middleton rendered cornet solos.

Mr. and Mrs. Middleton left by motor for the south, the latter wearing an ensemble of coral wool crepe with matching cape and white accessories. On their return they will reside in Vancouver. Out-of-town guests were Miss Harrison, of Penticton, aunt of the groom; Mrs. R. B. Brown, Mrs. L. C. Pelling and daughter, Marylin, Mr. and Mrs H. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and son, Gordon, of Victoria.

FETE HELD AT "WINDYHAUGH"

Eurydice Art Club Hostesses at Attractive Garden Party

The delightful gardens of "Windyhaugh," Fairfield Road, made an attractive setting for the garden party held under the auspices of the Eurydice Art Club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, the hostess, being assiste in receiving the guests by Mrs. W. B. McMicking, the president, and Mrs. W. A. Jameson.

In formally opening the affair, Mrs. Jameson commended the work of the society, and Mrs. Gillespie spoke briefly in tribute to Mrs. McMicking, the organizer and president, and congratulated the club on its encouragement of musical taste among the younger people. She also referred to the initiative of the society in presenting a cup to the Musical Festival.

Mrs. McMicking acknowledged the gracious tributes, and both Mrs. Jameson and Mrs. Gillespie were presented with dainty corsage bouquets by Flossie Ray and Betty Joan Elworthy. These young girls later in the afternoon delighted the guests with a group of dances, both ballet and tap.

A programme arranged by Mrs. R. P. Ray consisted of recitations by Freda Nattrass and by Sylvia Birkett, who recited a difficult number, "Idyll of the Period," in which she took four parts.

Many attractions and prettily decorated booths were arranged, while tea was served at tables placed around the garden and centred with summer flowers with colors of yellow and purple predominating.

Mrs. R. McVie convened the tea and was assisted by Mrs. A. Bates, Mrs. W. Aldridge, Mrs. Dunnett and Mrs. Hunter. Mrs. Birkett read the teacups. The general convener was Mrs. Harry Silver, and Mrs. P. Mickleburgh, who assists Mrs. McMicking in the direction of the club's annual productions, was of considerable help generally during the afternoon. The fish pond was in charge of Dorothy Farley and Marjorie Simons, and Robert McVie conducted the housie-housie.

The contests for the cake donated by Mrs. Silver, and plant given by Mrs. Gillespie, were managed by Miss Margaret Keele and Miss Dorothy McMicking, and Miss Grace Tuckey sold candy. The home cooking was supervised by Mrs. P. Ray and the ice cream by Mrs. H. Parker. Billy Nattrass directed the "panning for gold."

Business Delegates Made Many Purchases While In Victoria Over Week-end

Now that the poets and the presidents have departed, the shouting and the tumult ceased, it is possible to view in retrospect the impression made on Victoria by the recent visit of the huge delegation of business and professional women from the United States, and, vice versa, the impression made on them.

The visitors left not only memories of dynamic personalities, big business, unusual careers and general efficiency, but they also left much in the way of cold cash to gladden the hearts (and pockets) of local storekeepers.

BOUGHT BLANKETS

Although their visit coincided with dollar day, the U. S. women were not interested in bargains of that ilk. As evidence of their larger purchasing power, two of them went away laden (literally) with the celebrated blankest made by a well-known Canadian firm, each of them expending $100 on the fleecy, colorful products.

Another delegate fascinated by the lavender girls, who distributed fragrant souvenirs, and whose costumes were copied from those originated by a well-known English firm, craved a mort lasting souvenir, and bought toiletries made by the firm, to the value of $10.75.

Incidentally, the sprays of lavender presented to the visitors by the Victoria club were so popular that the girls who distributed it were inundated with requests from would-be purchasers of the fragrant produce of Victoria's gardens, and hundreds of bunches could have been sold had it been available, so here's a suggestion for a new line of endeavor and one that would appeal to those who want to keep the old-world atmosphere in Victoria.

ANTIQUES POPULAR

Antique shops were the Mecca of a number of the pilgrims, and many a choice bit of China, furniture or silver is now wending its way to one or other of the forty-nine states of the Union.

In fact, several of the visitors were so charmed with their finds, that they extended their stay for several more days to permit them to continue their browsing among these haunts of the collectors.

Another visitor purchased a modern Sheffield silver tea tray to remind her of her brief stay in this city.

English woolens are always an attraction to tourists from the United States, and several of the women, availing themselves of the privilege of taking back $100 worth of purchases free of duty, bought sports coats and knitted goods in high grade.

APPRECIATE HOSPITALITY

Less tangible evidences of their fleeting visit to Victoria were carried away by the delegates, but, to quote one of them:

"As long as I live I shall remember the peace and beauty of Victoria, and its prodigious hospitality. Especially shall I treasure the memory of the graciousness of Mr. and Mrs. Butchart in sharing the loveliness of their home and gardens with us."

SISTERS TO HOLD PUPILS' REUNION

The Sisters of St. Ann cordially invite all former pupils to attend the annual reunion at St. Ann's Convent on Saturday afternoon from 3 o'clock until 6.

The reunion this year will be of special interest owing to the unusually large number of Sisters from the various convents and hospitals who will be present, many have been attending the special teachers' classes at St. Ann's, the teachers' convention and the Provincial Summer School, and many more have come for the annual retreat. Old pupils will therefore have a unique opportunity of meeting their teachers of other years.

A special programme will be given in the auditorium following the registration of old pupils, and during the afternoon the annual report of the association of St. Ann's former pupils, giving a resume on the work accomplished in the interests of the school will be presented. Benediction in the chapel will be sung by the Sisters' choir.

JOB FOR CHORUS GIRL ON RELIEF

Associated Press

Chicago, July 25.—Jessie Reed admitted to-day she was "scared on the eve of her return to the footlights after a "run" on the relief rolls.

"Yes, I'm scared," whispered the woman who danced in Ziegfield shows from 1919 to 1924 and won fame as the "highest paid chorine on Broadway." Nine years off the stage, she said, leaves one's muscles less pliant.

The story of her application for relief, disclosed by newspapers, brought an offer from a large theatrical organization. She will open in the "Loop" to-morrow.

MARY'S SALAD SECRET makes Dot's husband happy!

WHY do fruit, vegetable and seafood salads taste so much better with Best Foods? Because Best Foods is Real Mayonnaise, made of freshly broken eggs, finest salad oils, a blend of three choice vinegars, imported spices — whipped and Double Whipped to velvety smoothness.

This is why Best Foods is more economical, too. For Real Mayonnaise is so much richer, so full-bodied and creamy that it can be blended with fruit juices, cream or milk, chili sauce, chopped pickles, etc. Hence it goes further. Why not treat your family to a salad made with Best Foods? The cost per salad is but a trifle.

Ymir New Mill Operates Well

Expect to Have It Running at Full Capacity of 150 Tons Daily By Sept. 1

Two weeks ago the new mill at the Ymir Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd. was opened and is now operating steadily at the rate of 110 tons daily. This will be gradually stepped up during August to 125 tons and the full load of 150 tons daily will be handled at the first of September.

On Monday, July 8, R. C. McCorkell, president of the company, turned the switch which started the mill. Immediately prior to this, in the crusher house, 475 feet above the mill, S. S. Fowler, M.E., who was in charge of the operations at the Ymir thirty-eight years ago when it was the largest gold mine in the British Empire, threw in the starting switches which set the jaw-crusher and secondary gyratory crusher into motion. Mrs. A. M. Manson and Mrs. McCorkell threw in the first pieces of ore from the Goodenough Mine and one from the Ymir.

During the afternoon the company's guests were conducted over the property, travelling at all times on excellent roads built by the company itself and going into the 2,154-foot length main haulage level of the Ymir on the electric ore train.

The entire operation is electrified and mining engineers and operators representing almost every important mine in the area, who were present, were much impressed by the remarkable efficiency of the various units.

YOUNG MAN DOES WORK

The mill, installed by the McCloskey Milling and Mining Service Ltd. under the direct supervision of J. E. McCloskey is regarded by experienced operators as one of the finest pieces of mill work ever placed in operation in B.C. Mr. McCloskey, who is an expert metallurgist, is still under thirty years of age but has already won for himself a reputation for efficiency in mill installation, which extends far beyond the borders of British Columbia. The entire milling plant has been designed so that its capacity can be raised to 300 tons daily without any additional housing construction and with a minimum of expense for additional machine installation.

One of the unique features of the crushing plant, which can handle up to 500 tons daily without any changes, is the gyratory crusher which is suspended by cables instead of being set in a concrete base. This is an entirely new departure and is the first of the new style crushers to be installed in western Canada.

The mill and crusher house are connected by a high-speed gravity aerial tramway, and the crusher and Ymir No. 10 level by electrical railway. Ore from the Goodenough, will for the time being, be brought to the mill by truck.

FINANCED LOCALLY

Reopened by a private company in 1933 after several years of intermittant operation, the Goodenough mine was the second largest shipper to Trail during 1934. It was decided to consolidate this property with the Ymir Mine, which produced several million dollars in gold prior to 1907, and for the purpose the present company was formed in the fall of 1934. Public financing was completed by March, 1935, and of the $150,000 raised, practically all of it came from Victoria, Vancouver and Nelson.

From March to July, the company constructed six miles of automobile road on the property, reconditioned the Ymir Mine and constructed and placed into operation the electrical railway.

The power lines of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company were brought in and transformers and other necessary work done. The crusher houses and mill building were started on May 6 and installation of equipment commenced during the same month. Actually the mill turned over for the first time less than three months after the completing of financing.

Mr. McCloskey, explaining the various features of the new mill, stated that its construction was economic and sound and that it was designed to give maximum service for the amount invested. The mill was made to suit the ore on the properties. The mill, he said, represented seven distinct types of plant and was so constructed that it could be changed to suit changing conditions.

The plant, he pointed out also, was fully automatic which would result in the use of little hard labor. He expected 40 to 55 per cent of the values would be produced as bullion.

When the mill commenced its full-time operation it had over four years' supply of ore available in the two mines.

JOY PEDDLARS ON SHOW BOAT

Standing room only was available at the performance of the Joy Peddlars aboard the show boat in the Inner Harbor yesterday evening.

Several hundred persons who filled the seats and lined the green slopes and the sidewalk along Belleville Street, applauded enthusiastically at the variety programme presented by a talented group of local artists.

During the evening T. H. Eslick introduced to the audience Mayor D. Warnock of Port Alberni, who spoke briefly.

The programme follows: "Hand Me Down My Walking Cane," sung by the company; "Wagon Wheels," by Doug Parks, with musical accompaniment; "Twelfth Street Rag," played by Ernie Fu"erton on his accordion; "Old Faithful," sung by the two McGuffey Sisters, Flora and Dora; "I Want to Sleep Again," by Billy Barnes; "The Village Pump," by the company; "On the Network," by "Slim and Roger," and a comedy skit by Marie Elliott.

Doug Parks sang "Desert Song"; "What's the Reason" was Ernie Fullerton's second number; "Au Pres de ma Blond" was sung by Roger Perullet, who was given an enthusiastic reception; "As Long As I've Got the 'Eart," by Billy Barnes; "Genevieve," by Slim Hunter and Roger Perullet, and the closing number was "Moonlight Lullaby," sung by the company.

Ward Five Names Tory Delegates

Delegates from Ward Five Conservative Association to the party's nominating convention on August 2 were chosen at a meeting yesterday evening.

Fifty-eight were named, with ten alternatives.

Senator R. F. Green and Hugh Allan, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, who is one of the aspirants for the nomination, spoke.

Senator Green claimed history showed Canada had always turned to the Conservative party in times of crises. In so far as any government could go the Bennet administration had done much to preserve the well-being of the country, he said.

Mr. Allan said hones tpeople did not repudiate debts and he did not think Canada should. Conservative policies had stood the test of ages and had an abundance of proof behind them, he declared.

WIDE AUDIENCE FOR CITY VIEWS

Gardens to Be Shown Thousands of Garden Enthusiasts on Continent

Victoria's gardens of beauty will be shown through the medium of lantern slides to thousands of garden lovers throughout the continent in a new series of exhibitions in which the city is participating, it was announced to-day by George I. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Mr. Warren stated his organization was swinging into line with the "Better Homes and Gardens" magazine campaign to show to 15,000 garden clubs on this continent views of grounds of particular beauty.

Of the 15,000 clubs which will be shown the slides, 5,000 are reported to be organizations with very active and large memberships.

The bureau has forwarded F. S. McGinnis, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Railway, who is in charge of collecting the slides, a full set of photos of Victoria views featuring the sunken gardens of R. P. Butchart.

The bureau is now assembling pictures from other grounds and will forward them to Mr. McGinnis.

Jimmy Bucher showed a two-points gain with three hits in seven times up, while Charley Gehringer moved into a tie with the idle Jimmie Foxx, making up the necessary one point by hitting twice in five attempts. THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
July 25, 1910

(From The Times Files)

Measurements taken this morning at the Smith's Hall reservoir show that there is now more water there than during the last ten or twelve days. The height of water at noon to-day was six feet four inches, an increase which is attributed to the constant use of the auxiliary pumping plant, which will be kept running until the dry season is over, when repairs to the big tank can be made.

A most enjoyable time was spent on Saturday by the large happy crowd which attended the annual picnic of the Painters' and Plumbers' Unions. A fast baseball game resulted in a win for the brush-wielders by 11 to 8, but the tables were turned in the tug of war, which went to the plumbers. A real fine sports programme was run off.

John Patrick Sweeney, holder of the provincial championship for one mile, was successful on Saturday in defeating Andy Davidson, the speedy miler from the University of California, over the distance at which both won fame, on the cinder track at Oak Bay. The race was one of the best seen here for some time and John deserves credit for the great race he ran.

Stories in STAMPS
By I. S. Klein

TO THE late Lawrence of Arabia, El Ourens, as the Arabs called him, King Emir Feisal of Iraq owes his throne. The two had become fast friends when they joined the tribes of the desert to defeat the Turks in Mesopotamia and so weaken the hold of the Central Powers in the east.

For this effort, Lawrence, believing that he had the sanction of the allied powers, had promised Feisal kingship over the conquered territory. But the Treaty of Versailles ignored the promise and caused Lawrence to repudiate all the honors bestowed upon him and retire to private life.

In 1927, however, England permitted a national vote on this issue, and Feisal became king by approval of 96 per cent of his people. That year appeared the first stamps portraying the new King of Iraq. In 1932, upon change of the country's coinage, a new set of King Feisal stamps was issued, one being shown here.

Fine Flower Display In Bamberton Show

Premier Pattullo Opens Eleventh Annual Exhibition at Cement Company's Town; V. Zellinsky Wins Best Garden Prize For Sixth Year

With all available space taken, the eleventh annual flower show of the Bamberton Horticultural Society offered a mass of beautiful blooms yesterday and attracted visitors from all over the southern part of the island.

Premier Pattullo made his first visit to Bamberton for the purpose of opening the show. He was introduced by J. H. McIntosh in the absence of Edwin Tomlin, the general manager of the B.C. Cement Company.

The premier praised the cement company in supporting the show and paid tribute to H. Anderson, who originated the exhibition. He also commented upon the development of flower culture in the last ten years and the high quality of the displays on view.

The show was held in the cement company's recreation hall and the entries were from thirty families in the community. Competition was unusually keen.

Ten decorated tables were on display and the judges had difficulty in deciding the winner, who was Mrs. Barlow with a delicately arranged exhibit of pale yellow chrysanthemums and mauve catanche in silver containers.

Judging was done by George Robinson (flowers and vegetables) and Mrs. E. L. Hammond (decorated tables).

The entire central section of the west wall was filled in with a colorful display from the gardens of Mr. Tomlin. These included gladiolus hydrangeas, hollyhocks, delphiniums, salpiglossis, godetia, roses and a host of other flowers. On the opposite wall a well-arranged non-competitive display of vegetables from the gardens of W. Savage. Filing in the corresponding space on the other side of the chirance were the baskets of flowers and bouquets. Artistic and colorful was Mrs. Skinner's winning basket, composed of gaillardias, marigolds, Spanish broom, and petunias in orange and lemon hues.

Among the other specially-noticed entries were the petunias, which were of fine color and size, some of the double varieties measuring five inches in diameter. Broad beans were among the best of their class in the vegetable section. Gypsophila grows well in the district, and was used liberally in bouquets.

The prizes were presented at the end of the afternoon by Mrs. J. H. McIntosh. The B.C. Cement Company's prize for the best garden in the community was won for the sixth time by V. Zellinsky. In the course of the afternoon dozens of persons visited his 7,000 square-foot plot.

Highest points were won by the following: Mrs. V. Zellinsky, 61; Mrs. R. Barlow, 53; Mrs. G. Skinner, 45. Because the first two had previously won the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society's medal, the award went this year to Mrs. Skinner, although she came in third place.

The exhibits were auctioned off by Mr. Zellinsky.

Afternoon tea was served on the veranda, under the convenership of Mrs. Zellinsky. The committee responsible for the excellent arrangements comprised F. Tomlinson, the president; J. W. Leason, secretary, and A. Mendum, assistant secretary.

The prize winners were:

● All the countless thousands who buy newspapers every day are potential customers of those who offer goods for sale to the consuming public.

Practically every merchant in Canada will lose customers in 1935 — a law of business. This loss must be replaced or his business will die. The trader who loses customers, even to the danger point, can find them again and increase his turnover by good merchandising linked with advertising in the daily newspapers.

People are reading daily newspapers as never before, not from curiosity, but from need to know today the best things offered to supply their daily wants.

Lost markets, which are only other words for lost customers, are now being regained by you or acquired by others. You owe it to yourself and to your business to keep in touch through the newspapers every day with the Canadian buying public.

Winners In Garden Contest Announced

A. R. Harness Gets Class A Award in Victoria Horticultural Society's Competition; R. Battison Best in Class B

A. R. Harkness, 1777 Hampshire Road, won the challenge cup and first prize in Class A of the Victoria Horticultural Society's Garden Competition, according to an announcement of the winners of the contest made by F. E. Boulter, secretary of the society this morning.

R. Battison, 3187 Fifth Street, was adjudged first in Class B, while Mrs. Loren McNutt, 208 Dobinson Street, won the trophy in Class C.

In the Class A competition, which is for gardens of 7,200 square feet or more that have been worked entirely by the owners, Mr. Harness scored 334 points out of a possible 400. Charles Richards, 414 Simcoe Street, was second with 326 points, while V. W. Ahlers, 3228 Seaton Road was third with 325 points.

Class B is for gardens under 7,200 square feet, which also have to be entirely worked by the owners. In this section, the winner, Mr. Battison, scored 339 points out of the same possible. G. Davis, 2439 Dunlevy Street, was second with 334 points, and P. J. Barsiat, 3317 Tennyson Avenue, with 305 points, was third.

Mrs. McNutt scored 320 points in the Class C gardens, which are not restricted to size, and where paid help can be occasionally employed. A. S. Derman, 501 Obed Avenue, was second with 315 points, and F. T. Rawlins, 169 Beach Drive, third with 309 points.

The entry list this year is reported to have been slightly larger than in 1934.

The gardens are allotted an equal number of points for flowers and vegetables, and the judges, E. W. White, and George Robinson agree that the standard in all classes was high.

The winners in each class are awarded a challenge cup and a cash prize, while those placing second and third receive money prizes.

CURLY LOCKS WINS SECOND PRIZE AT SOOKE

In the above picture Isabelle, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Helgeson, well-known Metchosin residents, has an eye on something, probably a big ice cream cone. She is being held by her mother but the photographer could not get her to watch the "birdie," as she is a lively little miss. She won second prize in The Times baby competition conducted yesterday afternoon in connection with the second annual Sooke reunion. Over thirty babies were entered in the contest and they all showed evidence of the advantages of being raised on Vancouver Island. They were the picture of health and beauty.

trades into the class of relief work. The cost of them, I believe, is shared by the provincial and federal governments. From the workman's point of view, however, it means we are put in the relief category when we are doing a fair day's work at a fair day's pay at the trade for which we have been trained.

Could there be any better way of perpetuating unemployment than that adopted by the city? It would be just as reasonable for the shipyards to call for "twenty relief workers" instead of "twenty machinists or painters" when they need a job done.

Follow the city's example to the limit and there will never be a call for tradesmen. All calls will be for relief workers.

PETITIONERS ASK STRIKE INQUIRY

Canadian Press

New Westminster, July 25.—A petition asking a Dominion Government investigation into the Vancouver longshoremen's strike, in an endeavor to effect a settlement, is being circulated here.

It asks the Federal Government to intervene under the Industrial Disputes Act and demands the withdrawal of extra police guarding the waterfront.

The petition was endorsed by a meeting of strikers here.

The only untoward waterfront event reported during the last twenty-four hours was the bombarding of a shipyard worker's truck with stones when he was apparently mistaken for a strikebreaker.

ALBERTA MAN LOSES LIFE

Rockyford, Alta., July 25 (Canadian Press)—C. B. Sparke, decorated with the bronze cross of the Boy Scout Association by the Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, for a gallant attempt to save a fellow worker from being electrocuted, was killed almost instantly when he touched a live wire here yesterday evening. A daughter, ten, survives him.

LOBBY FUND

Washington, July 25 (Associated Press).—Testimony the American Federation of Utilities investors spent approximately $60,000 in the last six months in the "interest of the millions of investors it represents" was given House lobby investigators today by Hugh S. Magill, president of the organization.

BOY KILLED IN FIGHT

U.S. Coal Wage Conference Held

Associated Press

Washington, July 25.—After a half-hour session, the joint scale committee of Appalachian soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers, seeking to negotiate a new wage and hour contract, recessed until to-morrow.

"No progress," was the terse comment of Philip Murray, vice-president of the union, when he left the conference room.

Japan Sells Much To Ethiopians

Growth of Trade Described to Italians as Their Troops Mass

Associated Press

Rome, July 25.—Japanese commercial penetration in Ethiopia occupies Italy as Premier Benito Mussolini concentrates troops and war materials in the East African colonies.

The Azione Coloniale, semi-official publication here, recently published figures showing Japan furnished between 70 and 75 per cent of the Ethiopian importations in the fiscal year 1932-33. This was an increase from the percentage of 55 to 60 per cent in the year 1931-32.

"Japan," says the publication, "has thrown on the market at Addis Ababa enormous quantities of goods at prices notably inferior to the current prices. She has caused a strong contraction in the quantities of merchandise sought from European nations formerly the exclusive sellers on the Ethiopian market."

NO LAND CONCESSIONS

The colonial publication points out that the report has been widely spread that Japan had obtained vast concessions of land in Ethiopia for industrial and agricultural establishments.

The Ethiopian Government, however has denied this, says the periodical, asserting the Japanese products were preferred solely because of their lower price.

After stating Japan accompanies her economic action by a cunning diplomatic work, The Azione Coloniale concludes:

"Ethiopia represents Aden, it represents the route to the Orient which Japan is necessary for her defence and for eventual offence.

"Mussolini, with his great intuition, has foreseen this danger and has launched the warning that it is time to call a truce to the petty rivalries of European states and to unite against the common danger.

"Let us hope the army warning will be listened to and that the white race will reaffirm once more the qualities that have assured it during millenniums the dominion among people.

STRIKERS WILL RETURN TO MINE

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 25.—Striking miners of the Congress Gold Mines Ltd. have decided to return to work and resumption of operations at the Bridge River property is expected to take place immediately, reports received here to-day stated.

Some twenty-five employees walked out in April when the strike was called, demanding higher wages and certain altered conditions. They have voted to accept the findings of a conciliation board now investigating the case.

GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATED

Lethbridge Founding Anniversary Marked By Gathering of Former Residents

On the tree-sheltered lawns and surrounded by the flower bowers of J. H. Richards's tea gardens overlooking the waters of Cadboro Bay and the Islands of the Gulf, nearly 100 former residents of Lethbridge Wednesday afternoon paid tribute to the founders of Lethbridge, fifty years ago.

The gathering here was arranged to be concurrent with the formal golden jubilee celebrations staged yesterday in Lethbridge.

In reply to a message from the local Lethbridge committee Mayor D. H. Elton, president, W.S. Fairfield of the Lethbridge Exhibition; J. S. Kirkham, chairman of the jubilee committee, and President Lamb of the Old-timers, sent the following telegram which was received during the afternoon gathering here and read: "Keenly regret Mr. Magrath unable to be present on account of business reasons. Your letter and message read to 10,000 persons at opening of Jubilee Celebration and broadcast over Alberta.

"Hearts in attune with you respond to our Jubilee spirit from all parts of Canada and congratulatory letters and telegrams reach us from every quarter. Old-timers and citizens, one and all, with intense enthusiasm and patriotic zeal, most sincerely join you in your garden party with best of all good wishes for your health, happiness, peace and prosperity."

MADE ANNUAL AFFAIR

Members of the committee in charge of the Victoria gathering were: William Colpman, president and chairman, who delivered a much-applauded address on the old-timers; Mrs. E. H. Wilson, women's president; Miss Margaret L. Agnew, secretary; G. Hamilton Harman, Frank Colpman, A. E. Humphries, Mrs. F. W. B. George and Mrs. F. C. Niven.

Resolutions were passed honoring the memory of the Hon. Sir Andrew Tolloch Galt and his son, E. T. Galt, founders of Lethbridge, "who by their many generous benefactions did so much to make Lethbridge and the surrounding country the beautiful city and district it is to-day," and extending congratulations and appreciation to all the old-time residents of established Lethbridge.

ANNUAL AFFAIR

It was decided to make the gathering here an annual affair under the committee responsible for yesterday's success.

Hon. Frank M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works for British Columbia, who was a Lethbridgian during his youth, delivered the oration of the afternoon in praise of the early residents of Lethbridge for their foresight, kindness, strength and hospitality and to the memory of Sir Andrew Galt and his son for the founding of the city, Galt Hospital and the Galt Gardens in a community that has thus made "one of the beauty spots of western Canada."

J. H. Fleetwood read copies of early documents pertaining to the incorporation of the town of Lethbridge early in 1891 and the election of the first council on February 2, 1891, with its first mayor, Charles Alexander Magrath, now of Ottawa and chairman of the Canadian Division of the International Joint Commission. Mayor Magrath presided over the following council: I. H. Cavanah, H. Bentley, William Colpman, C. M. T. Curry and W. Henderson.

A copy of Mayor Magrath's inaugural address was also read, revealing great foresight on the part of Mr. Magrath as many of his predictions have long since come true.

PRESENTATIONS TO PIONEERS

Mrs. H. Peters made the presentation of a supply of tobacco to W. Kay, honored as the senior former resident of Lethbridge present; and of a bouquet to Mrs. Wilson who pioneered into what is now Lethbridge in 1885.

Miss Lena Galt and her sisters, daughters of the late Sir Andrew Galt, sent greetings to the gathering.

Other greetings were received from P. L. Naismith, former general manager of the railway department of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company; and from A. E. Dunlop, early barrister and solicitor.

Ten Lethbridge veterans of the days of 1885 and before presented with blue ribbons were:

Lee C. Shaw, Mrs. C. M. Turner, wife of the late Mr. Turner, one of the first members of the council; Mrs. E. H. Wilson, whose father, John Duff, was one of the original landowners there and whose husband was for many years comptroller of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company; William Colpman, a member of the first council, chief of the volunteer fire brigade and one of the early mayors of the city; Frank Colpman; William Kay, who rode on horse to the site of the town in October of 1884, all now residing in Victoria, and Mrs. W. J. Glass, now of Calgary; J. H. Fleetwood, secretary of Lethbridge school board; T. H. Fleetwood, city treasurer, and Mrs. George McLean.

Others present at the gathering included: Mrs. Naismith, Mrs. Echlin, Mr. Tanner, Mrs. Barnes McRae, Mr. E. H. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guest, Mr. L. A. Quarter-finals Reached In Canadian Tennis Championships

THE SPORTS MIRROR

AT LAST a heavyweight who really wants to fight . . . just as often as he can obtain profitable matches . . . Following his engagement with King Levinsky in Chicago on August 7, Joe Louis would tackle Max Schmeling in September and Max Baer in early October . . . If either or both of the latter are unavailable, Johnny Risko will be acceptable in Detroit. . . . The Rubber Man has been signed to box Louis in the young negro's home city on September 5.

* * *

Fred Clarke, the old Pittsburgh outfielder and manager, was the first to wear sun glasses. . . . He patented those which flip up under the cap bill . . . Ancil Hoffman says that a Baer will be heavyweight champion again, but that it may be Buddy instead of Max. . . . The manager of the pair says that Buddy hits harder than Max, and it is unnecessary for him to add that the younger member of the family takes better care of himself and has more balance. . . . Sam Parks asserts that the practice green at Oakmont demoralized most of the professionals in the United States golf championship because it was even faster than the regular surfaces.

* * *

With their circuit beaten three successive times, National League baseball players want their managers compelled to have the pitchers selected for service ready for the annual all-star game. . . . Van Lingle Mungo is unable to account for a bruised finger on his pitching hand which is keeping him on the sidelines. . . . It started to swell and pain as the Brooklyn ace was working against the Boston Braves. . . . It may be a month before Freddie Fitzsimmons throws again. . . . The operation to which the New York Giants' star submitted disclosed adhesions as well as a chipped bone in the elbow. . . . Larry Snyder, who coaches Jesse Owens at Ohio State, regards the brown bullet as the greatest track athlete in the world, but adds that rating Eulace Peacock off his recent performances, a flip of a coin might well decide any race they run. . . . Frenchy Bordagaray is one of the mighty few major leaguers who likes to play at night. . . . The Brooklyn flychaser says that in the Pacific Coast League the fielders seemed to be a step slower, enabling him to beat throws to first base.

* * *

Albert Sabath is endeavoring to arrange a match race between Cavalcade and Discovery for Hawthorne. . . . There is an excellent chance for the horses which were such keen rivals as three-year-olds to meet later in the summer. . . . Carl Reynolds has been riding the Boston Red Sox bench because of a sore heel. . . . Attendance of only 3,000 at the Red Sox homecoming was attributed to 25,000 turning out for the opening of the new $2,000,000 Suffolk Downs track in Boston. . . . Jim Londos believes that three-minute rounds, with one-minute rest periods, would speed up wrestling bouts. . . . Olin Dutra has been appointed professional at the Wilshire Country Club, Los Angeles. . . . Experts declare that a Long Island polo team consisting of Devereux Milburn, Watson Webb, Bob Bullock, and Malcolm Stevenson, all more than fifty years of age, would be difficult to repel. . . . It is a broken finger on his left hand that is keeping Freddie Lindstrom out of the Chicago Cubs' lineup. . . . The flesh between the fingers also was torn when the hand was struck by a ball pitched by Cy Blanton, of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Golfers read of shot wizards ripping par apart in major tournament play, but according to Gene Sarazen the perfect round of golf has never been made. Talking with George Trevor, the golf expert of The New York Sun, Sarazen puts the question of the errorless round and then answers it.

* * *

"Do you realize that nobody, no matter how low his card, has ever shot a perfect round?" Sarazen asked The Sun man. "By perfect I mean a round without a single error—no drive off the fairway, each approach on the green in par figures and never more than two putts. The player who makes a phenomenal score invariably has to discount at least one mistake by a brilliant recovery. I visited several bunkers while making that 66, but blasted out dead with my sandiron. A perfect round, mind you, might yield only a par 72. The absence of anything resembling an error does not imply a remarkable score, but it would be an inhumanly difficult feat. Somewhere along the trail you are certain to catch the rough, find a trap, fall a bit short of the green, or take three putts. I was bunkered at the home green on my 66 at Fresh Meadow.

* * *

"It's funny how we golfers love to second guess even on scores in the sixties. Just listen to the chap who makes a 68. 'I'd 'a' done a 65 hole to-day,' he tells you, 'if that shot to the fourteenth hadn't rimmed the cup.' So it goes. He conveniently forgets that he might have been over 70 but for some lucky breaks on half-hit shots and some Normandie-length putts which happened to drop. Well, golf wouldn't be any fun if a guy was satisfied with his score."

Jack Brawn and Vess O'Shea In Smart Victory

Come From Behind to Eliminate Sabin and Jane Stanton 2-6, 7-5, 11-9

WORTH OSWALD IS DEFEATED

Third day's play in the Canadian tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club yesterday was featured by the last match on the programme, in which Jack Brawn and Vess O'Shea, Vancouver, won a place in the semi-finals of the mixed doubles. The mainland pair turned in a sterling exhibition to come from behind and defeat Wayne Sabin, Portland, and Jane Stanton, Los Angeles, 2-6, 7-5, 11-9.

Brawn and Miss O'Shea gave Canada its only representatives in the mixed after a gallant uphill battle in the longest match of the day.

After dropping the first set and rallying to take the second the Vancouver duo appeared on the way out when they were on the short end of a 4-1 game count in the third and deciding set.

GREAT COMEBACK

Fighting stubbornly Brawn and Miss O'Shea drew up to even terms at four games all. The next ten games were evenly divided until the score reached nine all. Then Brawn and Miss O'Shea broke through Miss Stanton's service for the nineteenth game and Miss O'Shea held her own in the next for the match.

A lone Canadian netman and four of the Dominion's women stars reached the quarter-finals in the singles event.

In his only appearance of the day, Walter Martin, Toronto, went into the quarters with a straight set victory over Don Lewis, Portland. Martin eased through the first set 6-4, then called into play his variety of strokes and booming service to take the second 6-1. The easterner was scheduled for a quarter-final match with Ben Neiden, Berkeley, later in the day but the match was put over until to-day to allow Martin to recover from stiffened leg and neck muscles, result of a cold he contracted T esday.

SABIN ADVANCES

In the only other match played in the men's singles yesterday, Wayne Sabin, smart young Portlander, advanced to a semi-final berth, the first to reach that round. The dark-haired star from Oregon defeated Worth Oswald, Berkeley, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Sabin played brilliant tennis, completely outclassing his opponent with uncannily accurate long placements in the back court, then racing to the net for overhead smashes.

Mrs. Gilbert Nunns, Toronto, led three Canadians into the quarter-final round of the women's singles to another Canadian, Mrs. R. B. Wilson of Victoria, who entered the quarters Tuesday.

Mrs. Nunns defeated Mrs. Lloyd Budge, San Francisco, in straight sets without losing a game, 6-0, 6-0.

Mrs. Ewen Cameron, Brandon, Man., eliminated Mrs. Golda Meyer Gross, Berkeley, in three sets, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, and Jean Milne, Vancouver, downed Mrs. Margaret Laird, Glendale, Calif., 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, to give Canada four of the eight berths.

Gussie Raegener, San Francisco, defeated Eleanor Dawson, also San Francisco, 6-1, 6-3, and Margaret Osborne, another Bay City star, put out Susie Milne, Vancouver, 6-0, 2-6, 6-2, for the other quarter-final berths at stake yesterday. Jane Stanton of Los Angeles gained that round Tuesday.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Last surviving pair in the men's doubles, A. C. Brand, Victoria, and Ed McKush, Winnipeg, were eliminated

Bobby Reith Is Golf Medalist

Winnipeg, July 25.—Carding a brilliant 69, one under par, Bobby Reith, sharp-shooting twenty-year-old Winnipeg amateur, won the qualifying round in the Manitoba open golf tournament here yesterday. Danny Stack, Winnipeg and Nelson, pre tournament favorite with Reith, placed third, with an eighteen-hole round of 80. Herb Pickard, Winnipeg, shot 71 to take second place

HAPPY JESTER WINS FEATURE

Captures Canadian Championship at Hastings Track; Dead Heat Seen

Vancouver, July 25.—The second dead heat of this year's Coast meet and the first at Hastings Park this season was witnessed yesterday when Sweep Past just overtook Capt. Larco at the wire in the sixth race.

Capt. Larco led most of the six and one-half furlongs, but was steadily overhauled by the M. H. Barry filly. In the stretch she moved into second position and crossed the wire neck and neck with the pacemaker. Dawn Breeze, a rank outsider, ran third to pay $17.90 show price.

Starting last in a field of five, Happy Jester, three-year-old gelding of the C. L. Jacques Stable, came from behind to capture the Canadian Championship, $1,000 feature race of yesterday's programme. STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

Strange as it seems, there are two small villages in the Swiss Alps that are as foreign to each other as though they were located on opposite sides of the world. The people do not speak the same language, they cannot understand each other, and their families never intermarry. Yet, the distance between the two villages is only about an hour's walk.

They are La Ferriere and Les Bois. People of one village speak a dialect of Franco-Provencal, while those of the other use a North French dialect.

Belgians who have any objection to the delivery of mail on Sunday may use the postage stamp shown above for their letters. The stamp has strict instructions that the letter bearing it must not be delivered on the Sabbath. It is used both by people who have their own objections to Sunday mail delivery, and by people who do not wish to offend others who might object.

If you do not care when your mail is delivered, however, you can just tear off the bottom part of the stamp on which the instructions are printed; then it will be delivered as usual.

To-morrow: The Annual Wars of Crusade.

THREE TEAMS IN "BIG FOUR"

University of British Columbia Withdraws From Canadian Rugby Loop

Vancouver, July 25.—Vancouver's "Big Four" rugby league will consist of but three teams in the coming season it was officially announced at a meeting of the British Columbia Rugby Union yesterday evening.

Varsity, University of British Columbia representatives in the "Big Four," who have been expected to drop from the circuit for some time, officially presented their withdrawal to the British Columbia body at yesterday evening's meeting. Last season Varsity played American rugby with colleges from the United States as well as the Canadian game with the "Big Four" circuit, but decided their programme for the coming season should favor only the American game.

The three other teams of the "Big Four" are Meralomas, Vancouver Athletic Club and North Shore.

WILL SIGN SCHMELING

German Heavyweight Will Be Contracted For Bout With Baer Or Louis

New York, July 25.—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, will be signed before night to meet either Max Baer or Joe Louis, Joe Jacobs, the German's manager, said upon his return from Europe to-day.

"We are willing to fight either man," said Jacobs, "but we want a guarantee of $150,000. We'll sign with the first promoter who lays it on the line."

RIVAL PROMOTERS

Madison Square Garden and the rival Twentieth Century Sporting Club have been staging a hot fight to enlist the temperamental German under their respective banners for another big heavyweight spectacle here by the fall.

The Twentieth Century thinks a battle between Schmeling and Joe Louis, sloe-eyed Detroit negro sensation, will be good for a $750,000 house, nearest approach to a $1,000,000 gate since the boom days of Tex Rickard.

The Garden wants to pit the German against Max Baer and is using a possible shot at James J. Braddock's new title as bait both for Schmeling and Baer.

Meanwhile, there is smart money along Forty-ninth Street, which says Schmeling isn't coming here to fight either Baer or Louis and will consider a trip to the United States for nothing less than a fight with Braddock.

If he is told he must first hurdle Baer or the negro, the dope is he will quit the ring, retire to his estates in Prussia and live on his money.

Toronto, July 25.—Ontario Football Association late yesterday evening ruled Toronto Scottish winners of the disputed game with Toronto Consols Monday, thus declaring Scottish Southern Ontario champions in the Dominion Football Association play-downs.

Mayor Leeming Presides at Ceremony Concluding Police Revolver Meet

With the presentation of prizes by Mayor Leeming the annual two-day revolver meet of the City Police Department was brought to a close at a banquet in the Douglas Hotel yesterday evening.

The feature trophy of the meet, the aggregate cup for Victoria city police, was successfully defended by Constable A. H. Phipps, the 1934 winner, who finished with the highest total in six events, which counted for the cup.

Tribute to those who had taken part in arranging the shoot was paid by Mayor Leeming, who mentioned particularly Major J. G. Rycroft, range officer; Master Gunner "Lottie" Collings, C. L. Major Rycroft expressed his pleasure at being able to assist in the meet, and stated he always looked forward to the event with a great deal of anicipation.

The thanks of the provincial police were tendered by Sergt. J. Kelly, who intimated more representatives of his force would take part next year.

Tribute to the co-operation among the officials was paid by Commissioner L. W. Goddard of Saanich. Commissioner S. R. Bowden, Esquimalt, promised to try and have a range established on government property in his municipality to eliminate the necessity of driving out to Saanich for the event.

Giants Move Game and Half Ahead In National League

Hubbell Hurls Brilliant Game To Defeat Cards

Bests Dizzy Dean in Pitching Duel For 4 to 2 Decision; Cubs Win Two

Detroit Tigers Wallop Yankees

Mickey Cochrane and his Detroit Tigers to-day found themselves in the very ambiguous position of being both first and second in the American Baseball League. After handing the New York Yankees a neat 4 to 0 trimming yesterday in the third game of their important series, their standing showed fifty-four victories and thirty-five defeats, while the Yanks had fifty-one games won and thirty-three lost.

For anyone who could add and subtract that made it very simple to show that Detroit was a half game ahead but when the percentages were worked out it took the services of an expert mathematician to show any differences between them and then it favored Yanks .0671 to .0667.

Meanwhile New York Giants made up a little lost ground and entered to-day's doubleheader finale of their battle with St. Louis for top place with the comparatively huge lead of one and a half games. They squared the series at two-all yesterday when Carl Hubbell outpitched Dizzy Dean and got the benefit of one inning of effective hitting to win 4 to 2.

VETERAN BEATS YANKS

For the second time Cochrane sprang a veteran hurler on the Yanks and saw craft subdue them. "General" Alvin Crowder, the ancient but by no means feeble right hander, mowed the Yanks down with four practically meaningless hits. Tigers stepped off on the right foot when Jo-Jo White, the first man up, clubbed Charley Ruffing for a home run and they kept it going to the tune of eleven hits. The rest of the scoring came in the third, just after a rainstorm, when Ruffing's two walks and three hits brought in three tallies.

Pepper Martin, the brilliant but often erratic Cardinals third sacker, brought the ladies' day crowd of 29,000 onto its feet in the third inning when he sprinted to second base on Dick Bartell's fumble, stole third and scored on Jack Rothrock's fly to give St. Louis a 1 to 0 lead over the Giants.

But that same Pepper turned joy into gloom in the seventh when, after Mel Ott had singled and Hank Leiber had doubled, he uncorked an epic wild heave that let both runners score and Travis Jackson reach third. Two more Giants' hits wound up the five-run rally.

Hubbell did most of the other work, limiting the Cards to five hits, three of which came in the eighth for the second run, fielding his position brilliantly and driving in one tally.

CUBS WIN PAIR

Chicago Cubs, taking advantage of the ups and downs of this battle of the leaders, slashed Cardinals' margin to a single game by taking their second doubleheader in a row from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 9 to 3 and 7 to 6. The second game went eleven innings before Ken O'Dea's homer broke it up after Danny Taylor had hit for the circuit with the bases full in the ninth and Cubs had replied with a two-run rally to tie the score.

Pittsburgh also won a doubleheader, beating Phillies 8 to 6 and 4 to 3 as Woody Jensen produced a circuit swat in each game.

The Cleveland Indians did likewise with a great outburst of late-inning slugging and beat the Washington Senators 10 to 6 and 13 to 8, and moved into fourth place in the American League standing, ahead of the Boston Red Sox, who took a 6 to 3 licking from the St. Louis Browns.

Cincinnati Reds moved into fifth place in the National, one point ahead of Brooklyn, by turning back Phillies 5 to 4 in their fifth night game of the season.

COAST LEAGUE

Duplicating its feat of last year, Seattle is back in second place in the Coast League baseball heap to-day. The Indians hung around the lower division all during the first half of the season, just as they did last year, but with the split they found new life and began their upward climb. They slid into second yesterday evening by knocking over Sacramento 15 to 10.

Joe di Maggio, after having his hitting streak stopped temporarily, came back with a double and two singles, as the Seals annihilated the Missions 12 to 8.

Steve Mesner, Los Angeles shortstop, leaned on one of Ed Wells' fast ones for a home run with two on bases in the tenth frame and broke a 2 to 2 deadlock as the Angels defeated Hollywood 5 to 3.

Portland broke its fourth place tie with Oakland by concentrating all its runs in the eighth inning to win 3 to 2.

Twite Star In Cowichan Win

Puts Up 149 Runs as Up-islanders Defeat Ridley College Handily in Exhibition Game; Cassells High For Tourists With 52

Duncan, July 25.—An excellent batting performance by C. E. Twite, who put up 149 before being bowled by Bell, featured Cowichan's one-sided cricket victory over Ridley College at the up-island grounds yesterday.

Cowichan put on 273 runs for seven wickets and declared. Ridley was dismissed for 136.

Co-starring with Twite was the Cowichan bowler, Leighton, who took nine of the Ridley wickets for 44 runs in 21.5 overs. For the visitors Cassels scored 52 runs, Bell 21, and Purcell 18. They were the only members of the College team which reached double figures.

Going to bat first, the up-islanders played consistently. Leggatt contributing a good 62 not out after Twite had passed the century mark. Dunlop and Mowbray also reached double figures before the side declared with 273 for seven at 2.30 o'clock.

The visitors, apparently tired, were below their usual strength in the field. Completing their first inning at 5.15 they followed on, batting until 6.30 o'clock when stumps were drawn without reaching the Cowichan total.

VICTORIA PRO GOLFERS PLAY

Taylor, Pryke and Clunk on B.C. Team to Oppose Washington Players

Bellingham, Wash., July 25.—On a vastly improved and lengthened battlefield, the northwest's leading professional and amateur talent are tuning up their wood and steel for the Washington State open and amateur golf tournaments to be played here next week over the exacting Bellingham Golf and Country Club course.

The firing in the open event will start Monday morning with the professional brigade settling their argument over the seventy-two-hole medal play route in two days of play, clearing the decks for the amateur sharpshooters who will start their par busting activities on Wednesday, concluding Saturday.

Favored contenders in the open event include such notables as Ted Longworth, the 1933 champion, and Emery Zimmerman, 1934 winner, both of Portland; Bert Wilde, the host club professional, who won the event here in 1930; Jimmy Johnson, the reigning Pacific Northwest open champion; Gordon Richards, a former winner, and a host of other well known professionals.

An international flavor will be given the open by the entry of more than a dozen Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., professionals, headed by the veteran Dave Black. A number of the crack Vancouver amateurs are also expected here for the open but will be ineligible to compete in the amateur, which is strictly a native son affair.

Allison-Budge To Play In Singles

United States Will Use Same Line-up Against England in Davis Cup Final That Defeated Germany; Helen Wills Moody Will Not Play in Wightman Cup Series

London, July 25.—Wilmer Allison and Donald Budge will again play in the singles for the United States in the Davis Cup challenge round against Britain opening Saturday.

Joseph Wear, non-playing captain of the U.S. team, made the announcement to-day, dispelling reports Allison might be replaced by Sidney Wood.

The English team will be Fred Perry and H. W. "Bunny" Austin, singles, and V. P. Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey in doubles. Johnny Van Ryn and Allison will play doubles for the U.S., which is sticking to the lineup that defeated Germany in the interzone final.

Seabright, N.J., July 25.—Holcombe Ward, chairman of the United States Davis Cup committee, thinks the United States has a good chance of winning back the elusive international trophy this year.

"I feel our chances ar better than they have been at any time in the eight years we've been after it," he said to-day.

New York, July 25.—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, San Francisco, who negotiated one of the most thrilling comebacks in the history of sport when she recaptured the Wimbledon tennis championship after a two-year layoff, arrived in New York to-day on the liner Washington and announced she would not play on the United States team against a British side in the Wightman Cup matches here next month.

Mrs. Moody said she intended to leave for the Pacific Coast Monday and rejoin her husband, Frederick S. Moody, and that she would not have sufficient time to return to Forest Hills, Long Island, for the international team match starting Aug. 16.

"Does that mean you are planning to retire?" she was asked.

"By no means at all," she said, "It is probable, almost definite I'd say, that I'll come east for the United States championships in the latter part of August."

BEER PETITIONS BEING SIGNED

Signatures on petitions calling for the legalizing of light wines and beers in restaurants and hotels in Victoria and up the Island are now being circulated for signatures in the residential districts of Victoria.

The circulation is being carried out by canvassers who are calling on every householder. The canvassers claim that beer and wine are necessary, to meet the demands of tourist business on the Island.

Most of the petitions in circulation now have long lists of names.

Mrs. Edward E. Dent, speaking for W.C.T.U. interests, in a statement today set out that "dry" workers were opposing the petitions on the grounds that instead of asking for a straight plebiscite, which is provided for in the Liquor Act, the plebiscite is proposed only as an alternative to the main proposal to put light wines and beers in eating houses without the formality of a beer plebiscite.

RIEL REBELLION VETERAN DIES

Thomas G. Morry of 1339 Stanley Avenue, last surviving member of the Red River expedition of 1872, died yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital, aged eighty-six years.

Mr. Morry was born in Newfoundland and spent his youth there. The Riel Rebellion led to the forming of various expeditions and in 1872 he joined the third expedition.

The company traveled from Montreal to Prince Arthur's Landing, now Port Arthur, by train and marched from there to the then Fort Garry, the present site of Winnipeg. Mr. Morry would often recall the hardships which the expedition faced.

After remaining in Port Garry for five years, he returned to Newfoundland and became engaged in the importing and exporting business until his retirement to Victoria five years ago.

He is survived by four sons, Thomas G. Morry, in Bedford, Mass.; Howard L. Morry and John Morry of Ferryland, Newfoundland, and Albert G. Morry of Victoria; one daughter, Mrs. Giovanetti, Placentia, Newfoundland; five sisters in Newfoundland and twenty-four grandchildren.

REPEAT BAN ON AIRFIELD

Department of National Defence Reaffirms Stand on Lansdowne Field

L. R. La Fleche, deputy Minister of National Defence, in a letter received at the City Hall to-day, repeated statements to the City Council that Lansdowne field was not registered as an airport and use of it by foreign pilots was against the air regulations of the Dominion.

Some time ago the same information was forwarded to the council. At that time the council replied it was not within their scope, the field being privately owned. Similar action is expected to be taken when the city body formally considers the present communication.

Two other letters were received regarding Victoria's appeal for an airport.

One from D. B. Plunkett, M.P., included a report from the Department of National Defence stating the Dominion Government had not assisted in constructing airports in British Columbia. It added, however, rental had been paid to the Vancouver base and other intermediate fields across Canada had been built with the partial assistance of relief labor.

Africa Seeks Canada's Trade

Mr. David de Waal Mayer Addresses Rotarians at Luncheon To-day

Members of the Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel this afternoon were introduced to David de Waal Mayer, South African trade commissioner to Canada, who gave a very interesting educational talk on the Union of South Africa.

Mr. Mayer, who is officially located in Montreal, is visiting the city with his wife, after spending a holiday at Banff and Lake Louise.

The guest speaker showed the members a number of colored slides of Cape of Good Hope, Orange Free State, Natal and Rhodesia, to prove to the Victoria Rotarians that the sister dominion was every bit as up-to-date as Canada.

During the course of his lecture, Mr. Mayer stated that the peoples of South Africa felt very highly toward the Dominion of Canada, and were doing everything in their power to develop trade and commerce between the two countries.

Due to the fact that the price of gold was so high in the world to-day, and that South Africa produced over half of the world's supply of this valuable metal, the Union was probably the wealthiest country in the world to-day, said Mr. Mayer.

The days of the depression were over as far as South Africa was concerned, remarked the speaker.

In closing, Mr. Mayer conveyed to the citizens of Victoria the good wishes of the people of South Africa, who looked upon Canada, not as a foreign country, but as a sister dominion, and an important part of the British Empire.

Mayor David Leeming, honorary president of the Victoria Horticultural Society, will open the society's twelve annual summer show in the main building at the Willows to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock. The show will continue until Saturday evening at 10 o'clock.

Practically the whole of the building is being used this year, and the finishing touches will be given the arrangement by P. R. Leighton and his committee to-night.

Commenting upon what the prospects of the show would be, the secretary said that as far as the exhibition itself was concerned success was assured. It was now up to the citizens and those visiting the city at this time to patronize the show and a make it a real success.

Nothing has been left undone that would assure all visitors of viewing one of the society's best attempts. The judging of the many exhibits will be quite a task.

"BABY BONDS" CHALLENGED

Interim Injunction Sought Against $1,500,000 Issue For Vancouver City Hall

In his effort to halt Mayor McGeer's issue of $1,500,000 City of Vancouver "baby bonds," R. H. Bray, counsel with J. B. Williams for C. H. L. Smith, Vancouver property owner, argued most of this morning before Acting Chief Justice Martin of the Court of Appeal here for an interim injunction against that city, pending the hearing in the autumn of the appeal against last week's refusal of Mr. Justice Robertson of the Supreme Court to issue an injunction.

After hearing the reply of W. B. Farris, who appeared to defend the city's action with corporation counsel D. E. McTaggart, the acting chief justice said that because of the pressing nature of the application he would hand down a ruling later today.

Mr. Bray said that when a Supreme Court injunction was granted in connection with the application to have declared ultra vires the by-law of May 13 by which the City Council authorized the "baby bond" issue, the council immediately repealed the by-law covered by the injunction and passed another changed in details but essentially the same as the first.

He asserted it was a matter of urgency to get the interim injunction now asked for because Mayor McGeer proposes to issue the debentures on July 31, and once they were issued there would be no way of holding up the expenditure until the autumn session of the Court of Appeal, by which time "irreparable damage" would be done to the interests of the property holders of Vancouver.

"Vancouver has already exceeded its borrowing capacity, which is fixed by charter and what the mayor and council have done in this by-law is to adopt a method of creating debentures which is prohibited by statute," Mr. Bray said. "This bylaw imposes taxation on property and constitutes a morigage on property.

"I cannot see how any harm would be done by waiting another month to build the City Hall. Why this haste? I think it is due to the fact that the courts are not in session now to declare the issue illegal. It is not the mayor and council, but the taxpayer that will have to pay if the bond issue is wrong."

"What is troubling me; Mr. Bray, is the question of where is this irreparable damage you speak of," said the acting chief justice. "You say these people are issuing bonds for which you say there is no legal right. If, then, these bonds are illegal, then they are just so much waste paper."

"If it is being done illegally, then they have to be repaid," replied Mr. Bray. "Under the Vancouver charter the city can raise money by taxes to pay for such losses and this would have to be done."

The acting chief justice asked whether there was no procedure by which the by-law could be attacked directly and quashed.

Mr. Bray replied such a move would be unsatisfactory and cumbersome and long, as the whole question of the city's finances would have to be gone into.

Mr. Farris pointed out that there was a labor emergency and that the expenditure would give employment to 1,500 men. He also said it would take a month or six weeks to get under way, so very little of the money could be spent by the time the matter would come before the appeal court at its October sitting.

The acting chief justice pointed out that halting of the expenditure would be a very serious thing as the by-law sets out that there was an emergency.

"How do you suffer irreparable damage through a wise expenditure of public funds?" the acting chief justice continued.

Mr. Bray replied that if the expenditure were stopped by the court in the autumn then there might be only a hole in the ground which would be worthless.

"We are not standing by and letting the city perpetrate this wrongful thing," Mr. Bray continued. "We are stepping in now. The by-law is glaringly illegal."

Mr. Farris said that by the Enabling Act passed at the last session of the Legislature, Vancouver was given specific power to pass the by-law for $1,500,000 emergency expenditure.

"Back of the application opposing this bond issue is petty politics," said Mr. Farris.

"That is unfair to refer to this motion as petty politics," Mr. Bray objected.

The private funeral of Joseph John Wachter, who died at the Royal Jubilee Hospital on July 20, took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. Robert Connell conducted the service, during which the hymn, "Abide With Me," was sung, and Mrs. S. M. Morton rendered a solo. The coffin was covered with many beautiful wreaths. The following acted as pallbearers: Monte Powell, George Whitfield, George Stelly, W. Carroll, James Tyson and Thomas Neil. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

This evening the Canadian Regiment First Battalion Pipe Band will play "Retreat" at 7.45 o'clock on the steps of the Parliament Building. Another of the popular programmes of pipe music will follow.

Tourists as well as citizens have shown warm appreciation of the programmes and large crowds have been on hand to hear them.

The band is under the direction of Pipe Major A. Wallace.

VARIED TRIPS FOR WEEK-END

Coach Lines Offer Several Excursions Saturday and Sunday

The Vancouver Island Coach Lines announces a varied list of excursions for the coming week-end.

Such has been the popularity of the Coach Lines connection service to Vancouver, that an excursion to the mainland city will be offered on Saturday next. Travelers will leave the Broughton Street depot at 7.45 o'clock in the morning, and after enjoying a five-hour stay in Vancouver, will arrive back in Victoria at 11 o'clock the same night.

Also on Saturday a special trip by bus and ferry to Friday Harbor is being featured. This excursion to United States soil is one that is ever popular with residents and tourists alike.

Newcastle Island, popular Canadian Pacific resort within a few minutes' sail of Nanaimo, is the terminus of a special excursion on Sunday next. This is the first excursion of the season to this famous resort, and the low fares coupled with the convenient schedules offer an excellent opportunity to Victorians for a day's outing at one of the most enjoyable island playgrounds.

The regular weekly excursions to Qualicum Beach, Shawnigan Lake via the Cut-off Road along the lakeshore, Goldstream Park and Sooke Harbor are advertised for next Sunday, while in addition a special trip is being run to Maple Bay.

It is expected that the coaches will be taxed to their limit of capacity over the week-end, and in order to avoid disappointment, those intending to participate in one or more of the excursions should purchase their tickets in advance at the Broughton Street depot.

SEVENTY-FIVE TO GET EXTRA WEEK

Passage of the "Duties of Municipal Officers By-law," carried finally at Monday evening's meeting of the City Council, will give another week's holiday this year to seventy-five employees of outside staffs, and will entail an outlay of $1,500 for which no work will be done, it was shown by officials of the engineer's department to-day.

The majority of men affected by the new clause come under the jurisdiction of that department.

The action was taken to give outside employees of at least fifteen years service the same holiday treatment as those of the inside.

For some time employees of the inside staff who have worked for the city for fifteen years have been given three weeks' holidays with pay, while those on the outside have only been allowed two.

While the change will give the outside men more holiday with pay, it will not effect the budget.

FUNERAL HELD

Rev. Canon A. E. de L. Nunns officiated at the funeral service for the late Miss Barbara Jessie Holwell yesterday, at which many sympathizing friends were present. After the service the body was forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

LICENSES SHOW TOURIST FLOW

Victoria Attracting Visitors From Far-flung Part, Check-up Reveals

The world is beating a metaphorical pathway to Victoria's door these summer months, according to a check made on the Empress Hotel driveway.

Back in the days of '41 when officials of the Hudson Bay Company sensed the way the Oregon Boundary dispute would go and looked about for a trading post to take the place of Fort Vancouver on the Columbia and finally decided on the location now called Victoria, they had no idea it would become the resort city of the west.

True, as evidenced in the records over at the Archives, they chose for climatic advantages, scenic beauties, agricultural possibilities and safe harborage. Even so should they return here in spirit some sunny summer morning they would feel they chose better than they knew.

VISITING CARS

Last Sunday morning of ten cars lined up in the Empress Hotel driveway, picked consecutively at random, one was from Hawaii, three of B.C., one from Alberta, four from California and the last from Oregon.

On Monday morning at the same time of ten cars in the same positions, two license plates bore the white on blue of Washington, two the white on black of Manitoba, one the white on brown of Saskatchewan, two the white on red of Alberta and three the orange on black of California.

Tuesday of ten cars in the same positions, five were from California, one from Illinois, two from Montana, one from Washington and one from Oregon.

On Wednesday a fourth check up of ten cars in the same place revealed one from Texas, one from Washington, one from Montana, one from Saskatchewan, one from Nevada, one from Connecticut and three from California.

Vernon, B.C., July 25. — H. K. Beairsto, principal of the Vernon elementary schools, has been selected as one of the three delegates to represent the British Columbia Teachers' Federation at the Canadian teachers' convention which will be held in Ottawa early in August.

Mr. Beairsto, former vice-president of the B.C. Federation, will leave for the convention about August 3, accompanied by the other delegates, J. R. Mitchell of North Vancouver, an ex-president of the federation, and H. Charlesworth, the general secretary.

PAY FINAL TRIBUTE

The funeral of William John Hardy, who passed away on Monday, took place yesterday afternoon. Many friends attended the service, which was conducted by Rev. E. W. Horton of the First United Church. The coffin was covered with a profusion of beautiful floral tributes. The hymns sung were "A Few More Years Shall Roll" and "Abide With Me." The following were pallbearers: A. W. Semple, J. W. Cherry, T. A. Burgess and Norman Hirst. The body was laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Would Pet a Lion for Film Fame; And Cecilia Parker Does It, Too

HOLLYWOOD.

SHE IS just nineteen, blonde and blue-eyed. But Cecelia Parker thinks nothing of walking right up to a lion and petting it—provided, of course, that it is a trained lion.

In fact, Cecelia would put her head right into a lion's mouth if it would assure her being elected a Wampas Baby Star. That is what she wants more than anything else right now and she is not at all sure the honor will fall upon her.

But it will. When the Wampas election returns are tabulated, Miss Parker will be one of the thirteen girls named from the thirty-three nominees as baby stars.

The reason I feel so safe in making such a prediction is that Cecelia warrants it. She has talent and is afraid of nothing—except water.

Hard work does not bother her in the least. In fact, the harder she has to work, the better she likes it. And she gets plenty of that in the serials she has been making.

Anyone who plays in a serial works like the very devil. There is a future in it, though, as was proved by Ruth Roland, Pearl White, and many others.

SHE AIMS HIGH

However, Cecelia does not intend to spend the remainder of her screen career in serials. She is aiming toward bigger things, dramatic roles which will afford her every opportunity to show what she can do.

Miss Parker came into pictures about three years ago, her first role being the feminine lead opposite George O'Brien in a western. Another similar picture followed.

Then she played leads in five Ken Maynard productions. She also has played leads in several serials, just having completed "The Lost Jungle," in which she worked with Clyde Beatty and his lions.

So far, those films have not brought her much in the way of fame. But they have been excellent experience, training which will be invaluable as she advances to bigger things.

SUPPORTS HER MOTHER

Cecelia lives in an unassuming flat with her mother, now separated from her father. Since the nineteen-year-old girl—she will be twenty in April—is the sole means of support for the little family, they do not enjoy many luxuries.

However, they get along very well and Cecelia has her own little roadster, necessary for transportation to and from the studio at which she happens to be working.

She plays with lions and thinks nothing of it . . . it is all in the day's work for Cecelia Parker, nineteen, blonde, and blue-eyed, headed for Wampas baby stardom.

In many ways this actress still is just a little girl. She is indeterminate in her opinions, often wanting something, but not knowing herself what she wants. And she still gets as much of a kick out of things as she did when a little girl.

WATER HER GREAT FEAR

She likes everything pertaining to the great open spaces—except water. Of that she has an inborn fear. Whenever she gets in water above her knees, she becomes panicky. However, she likes boats, will do anything on them, and does not know what it means to be seasick.

She loves to ride horses, a feat learned through her work in western pictures. And she never passes a chance to go camping in the mountains.

In fact, she and her mother go on a camping trip every summer.

"Whenever I find any sport that I have not tried, I immediately go out and try my hand at it," she remarked. "That is why I do not mind making western pictures. I know they do not mean a great deal, but I have a lot of fun making them.

"Of course I do not want to keep on doing these outdoor pictures forever. There is not sufficient future in them for a girl.

"I want to work in bigger dramatic films, in which I will have a chance to make a name for myself."

DODGED ALTAR TWICE

Romance has played a rather important part in Cecelia's life since she has been in Hollywood. Twice she has been on the verge of getting married, but decided at the last moment against taking the step. However, she is very much in favor of marriage, being, as she puts it, "old-fashioned that way."

And she now is going quite steadily with a young chap out of the picture business entirely.

Given a break, this little girl will go places in the picture racket, and that break probably will come before many months have passed.

Alice Faye's mother objected to her daughter's stage career because she would have to be away from home so much, so the beautiful young actress always takes her mother with her.

Jane Withers, as guest of Jackie Searl, both of the "Ginger" company, attended the Flintridge Children's Horse Show where Jackie won a ribbon for riding and jumping.

Steel armor Protects Star

Hollywood.—In olden days armor protected warring knights from the shafts and swords of enemies. To-day, duplications of the same steel helmets and suits are safeguarding human beings in other respects than just warding off the missiles from an ancient cross-bow.

Actors who are bringing "The Crusades" to the screen, under the direction of Cecil B. DeMille, on more than one occasion have had their armor to thank for escaping possible serious injuries.

While re-enacting the Crusaders' attack against a fortified Saracen city, many artists were compelled to undergo a baptism of fire. Cotton balls soaked in benzine were ignited. Despite the fact that care was exercised in casting them from a set representing the city wall, some of them naturally fell among hordes of performers. Thanks to the steel suiting, which he had made by expert armorers, no player was even singed.

EMPIRE IMPORTS SHOW INCREASE

Canadian Press

Ottawa, July 24.—A substantial increase was shown in Canada's imports from Empire countries during June as compared with the same month last year, while imports from foreign countries showed a comparatively small increase, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported to-day.

Imports from Empire countries during June were valued at $16,105,485 compared with $13,612,367 in the same month last year, while imports from foreign countries totalled $46,731,689 against $46,185,892 in June, 1934.

The United Kingdom was the largest supplier of the Empire countries with goods to the value of $9,954,185 against $9,643,612 last year, and the United States led the foreign countries with goods valued at $25,911,997 compared with $26,699,216 in June 1934.

Arline Judge, appearing with James Dunn in "Welcome Home," saw her husband off at the Glendale airport the other morning, and then hired an ambulance, which had the right of way, to get her to the studio, thus maintaining her record for punctuality.

EAT PRUNES AS FOOD, RATHER THAN LAXATIVE

Scorned Boarding House Breakfast Dish More Valuable For Its Vitamins and Minerals Than For Action on Bowels

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Don't laugh at the lowly prune, in an uppity way.

This valuable fruit, long the bane of the boarding house resident, has begun to be recognized as an item of considerable utility and quality in the modern diet. And, mind you, it is not as laxative that you should consider it for your breakfast, but as real, nourishing food.

Like cranberries and plums, prunes contain benzoic acid. Ordinarily an average prune will provide twenty-five calories. It also will provide good amounts of vitamins A, B, C and G.

Prunes are handled differently from other dried friuts, since they are not cut before drying. In their preparation, the prunes are merely plums which have been dipped quickly in boiling lye to thin and crack the skins; then they are washed to remove the lye, and then dried in the sun.

From the point of view of mineral content, prunes offer fair amounts of calcium, phosphorus, iron, manganese and copper. Although their iron content is about one-fourth that of liver, it is six times that of oranges and nine times that of peaches.

Much interest has attached to the prune because of the claim that it has a laxative quality. This, however, is not so great as to make it especially recommended for that purpose.

If you are in search of a laxative quality, that is probably obtained to better advantage by use of other substances.

Syrup prepared by boiling prunes and figs is of slightly greater laxative quality than the whole prunes, as they are ordinarily eaten after being cooked. In fact, many people make a good laxative preparation by boiling one-half pound each of prunes and dried figs with an ounce of senna leaves.

The eating of such fruit, together with the syrup prepared from it, yields a mixture of rather strongly laxative quality. Such laxative action as the prune possesses would appear to be due to some principle not yet isolated, but of course prunes have the usual effects of other fruits in stimulating action of the bowel.

The benzoic acid content of the prune is hardly sufficient to cause an acid reaction in the body.

Because of its vitamin and mineral elements, its possibilities for providing energy to the body, and its iron content, the prune would seem to have great usefulness in the human diet.

FIGURES SAFEST WAY OUT

Declarer Offers His Opponent Cheap Trump Trick to Avoid Losing Two in Later Play

By WM. E. McKENNEY

Sometimes what looks like a foolish finesse turns out to be the only play that can assure a contract's success. Some of these apparently foolish plays really are safety plays by which declarer is enabled to make his contract.

In to-day's hand, for instance, South decides to give up a trick—the safety play—right at the start, if his opponents can take it then, so that he will be certain they won't take two from him later, and so defeat his small slam contract.

THE PLAY

Against the six-heart contract West opened the king of diamonds. The trick was won in dummy with the ace.

The whole problem in the hand is how properly to handle the trump suit. The careless player would lead a small heart from the dummy and go up with the ace, but when you are in a six contract it is your duty to figure your hand out from every angle.

If there are four hearts to the queen-ten to your left, East is going to show out on the first round. You can win the first trick with the ace and then lead the nine spot towards the jack.

However, if there are four hearts in the East hand as shown to-day, and you go up with the ace, you cannot prevent East from making two heart tricks. So at this point you must make the safety play of finessing the nine of hearts.

You need not care if the singleton ten or queen makes, because now you will be able to pick up the hearts, and even though a spade is returned you will still have the ten of clubs as an entry into dummy, to discard all of your losing spades on the good clubs.

As it happens, the nine of hearts holds; so now you cash your ace and king of hearts and give East his queen of hearts.

Today's Contract Problem

South is playing the contract at four hearts. The deuce of diamonds is opened. East's ten forces declarer's ace. Three rounds of trump are taken and the deuce of clubs led. What tricky defensive play can East make that might defeat the contract?

OUT OUR WAY —By WILLIAMS

"MISSISSIPPI" OPENS TO-DAY

Bing Crosby Has Lead in Tuneful Feature at Playhouse

Songs, comedy and romance in a colorful tale of the old South are the entertainment features offered in Paramount's "Mississippi," starring Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields and Joan Bennett at the Playhouse Theatre to-day.

"Mississippi" is the story of the Yankee youth who became the terror of the dueling and fighting South and then reformed to win Dixie's loveliest belle.

Crosby introduces four new Rodgers and Hart tunes in "Mississippi," as well as a special arrangement of that perennial favorite, "Swannee." He is assisted in the singing by Queenie Smith, star of the musical comedy stage, and The Cabin Kids.

Directed by Edward Sutherland, "Mississippi" features John Miljan, Gail Patrick, Fred Kohler and Claude Gillingwater in the dramatic cast. The picture was adapted from the play by Booth Tarkington.

Roger Pryor and June Clayworth in "Strange Wives" provide the second feature.

ARMSTRONG HAS MYSTERY LEAD

"The Mystery Man" Opens To-day at Columbia Theatre

Mystery, suspense and hilarious comedy are the essential ingredients of "The Mystery Man," fast-moving Monogram production with Robert Armstrong and Maxine Doyle, which opened at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

The new film is presented against the colorful background of newspapers and gangland, and takes its principal characters through a series of kaleidoscopic adventures as a drunken reporter suddenly finds himself accused of crimes and responsible for the future happiness of a very pretty girl.

Armstrong, in the starring role, probably presents his best performance to date. The role is one for which he is well-suited. Maxine Doyle, a new-comer to the screen, who has won almose overnight success, appears opposite Armstrong and contributes much of the amusing comedy with which the gripping plot abounds.

Playing the master mind criminal who provides many of the complications in the story is LeRoy Mason, while other members of an excellent supporting cast are Henry Kolker, James Burke, Guy Usher and Jimmie Burtis.

As the second feature is Tim McCoy in "The Westerner."

Jane Withers Has Lead in "Ginger"

Remember the brat in "Bright Eyes," who imitated a machine gun, told tales on Shirley Temple, tried to run her down with a doll carriage and proved herself a complete annoyance?

She's Jane Withers, a chubby, independent little girl of nine, about so high, with dark brown hair and blue-grey eyes, who has proven herself another one of Fox Film's sensational discoveries.

Jane's latest picture, "Ginger," which comes to-morrow to the Dominion Theatre, has been proclaimed by New York and Hollywood as a great beginning for what looks like a great career.

With Jane Withers and Jackie Searl, "Ginger" boasts the world's champion small girl and boy heavies of the screen.

When Jane, the little, independent, self-reliant product of Ninth Avenue, is taken into the Park Avenue home of the pampered Jackie Searl, trouble and lots of fun follow.

"Ginger" was made under the close supervision of Sol M. Wurtzel, who also produced "Bright Eyes," and he personally selected the cast in which O. P. Heggie and Katherine Alexander are featured. Lewis Seiler directed the film.

As the second feature "Black Sheep" stars Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor.

CAPITOL

Picture audiences will get their first taste of symphonic classics in "Break of Hearts," RKO Radio Picture starring Katharine Hepburn, now being shown at the Capitol Theatre.

An eight-five-piece symphony orchestra recruited from the finest musical talent in Hollywood brings music of the masters to the screen as an integral part of the story.

The orchestra compares favorably in size with the great symphonic organizations of the nation. The New York, Philadelphia and Boston symphony orchestras number from eighty-five to 110 pieces, the sizes varying somewhat with the compositions played.

To be seen as well as heard in the picture, the "Break of Hearts" orchestra plays Bach's Toccato and Fugue, and the last movement from Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony.

Charles Boyer, co-starred with Miss Hepburn, is seen in the picture as "Roberti," conductor of the orchestra. Philip Moeller, noted director of the New York Theatre Guild, and Jane Loring joined in the direction of "Break of Hearts."

Fox Film has signed a running mate for Parisian Ketti Gallian, she is Simone, vivacious French star, and will make her American bow in "Under Two Flags," early in the fall.

Sales Heavy With Leaders Lower On Wall Street List

Associated Press

New York, July 25.—The stock market to-day ran into realizing which had been expected by the analysts and a number of the leaders backed up under the selling.

Selective buying during the greater part of the session, however, acted as a cushion for the fall and many issues held to a narrow groove. The close was rather heavy. Transfers approximated 1,300,000 shares.

Until the last hour the list was noticeably resistant and many of the favorites registered new highs for the year before turning around. News developments were not especially pessimistic and brokerage quarters attributed the reversal to technical factors, which, they said, also to be found in the best bull markets.

Gains backed and filled indifferently and cotton slipped. Bonds were mixed, as were the principal foreign exchanges. The guilder, however, rallied.

Shares of Coca-Cola got up 5 points, but relinquished part of this before the finish. Johns-Manville, Deere and Armstrong Cork were moderately higher. Union Pacific dropped some 4 points, and others, off 1 to around 2, including Corn Products, Continental Can, American Can, Santa Fe, Sears Roebuck, American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Case and Lambert. The utilities and most of the rails were only fractionally lower.

MINES LOWER AT TORONTO

Toronto, July 25 (Canadian Press).—Selling produced a few nicks in the price level of golds to-day on the Toronto mining section and a lower average prevailed at the close.

In early trading Bralorne and Hollinger were higher, but these dropped the bulk of their gains. Selling scaled prices down to the extent of 2 to 5 cents in Pickle Crow, McKenzie, God's Lake and Little Long Lac.

In the silvers recessions up to 8 cents came out for Eldorado and Castle Bear weakened 2 cents.

Urges There Be No Shirkers

Ontario Premier Warns of Breakdown of Morale Through Unemployment

Canadian Press

Toronto, July 25.—Society was being undermined due to the breakdown in morale of citizens because of unemployment, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to-day told the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association here.

"A few years ago men used to come to the relief office with their caps pulled down over their eyes," the Premier said. "To-day they come in defiantly. We have farms that need help and cannot get it. The breakdown in morale is one of the serious factors causing it. Any government has to pay some attention to its taxpayers as well as its unemployed."

Declaring it necessary to teach relief recipients they must not be shirkers, Mr. Hepburn said one of the most pressing problems faced by any government to-day was that of unemployment relief.

"Such problems as these must be looked at from the economic view," he continued. "Newspapers should not adhere blindly to party in matters such as these."

Prices Unchanged As Winnipeg Bucks Outside Weakness

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 25.—Offerings of Russian wheat in the international market made traders pause to-day, but prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange nevertheless were steady. Values closed unchanged, July at 81¾c and August 82⅛c.

The offer of Russian wheat at Liverpool, reportedly 6,000 tons at 88c a bushel in Canadian funds, resulted in sharp declines in the English market before the recession was halted. After being 2d lower, Liverpool closed 1¾d to 1½d off.

Small, scattered export sales of Canadian wheat and strong United States markets held local futures steady. Chicago gained 2c early. Buenos Aires was weak.

Scattered selling here was well taken care of by moderate buying.

Cash grain were firm as were coarse grains.

Chicago, July 25 (Associated Press).—Despite sensational reports of severe crop damage to spring wheat, grain markets wound up to-day with little net changes in prices.

Rapid fluctuations were accompanied at times by active trading, but taken as a whole, business lacked volume. Late reactions from earlier advances were associated with unusual lack of general public speculative interest.

Wheat closed steady, unchanged to ⅛c higher compared with yesterday's finish, September 86⅛c to 86¼c, corn ⅜c to 1⅛c down, September 75⅝c to 75¾c, oats ⅛c off to 1c up, and provisions varying from 2c decline to 12c gain.

New York Bond Mart Irregular

Associated Press

New York, July 25.—The bond market was irregular to-day, with divergent trends even within the same groups. U.S. Government obligations were mostly a shade lower, but the market was apparently not disturbed particularly by the announcement that the treasury was planning sale of $100,000,000 or 2⅞s at competitive bidding Monday.

Tarzan The Untamed

For hours, without apparent fatigue, Tarzan followed Olga's trail. He believed she could not reach the town on foot in less than two days. Suddenly he heard a distant locomotive's whistle and knew the railway was again in operation.

His keen ears heard brakes applied. A few moments later he knew a train had stopped, started again, and was going south. Continuing on the girl's trail he found it ended at the railroad, showing she had boarded the train, just as he thought.

He decided to follow on to Wilhelmstal, hoping to find Karzenoff there, possibly also the girl, and recover his diamond-studded locket. Night when he reached there, he loitered on the outskirts getting his bearings.

He wondered how an almost naked white man could explore the town without detection. The place was well guarded; unclothed as he was, it was almost impossible to enter and search it. Yet only a moment was luck against the ape-man.

The Gumps

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—When I married I thought I knew all the rules about making a husband happy and using tact and diplomacy in getting along with him. Especially was I strong about catering to his taste. Here is what happened: We don't like the same breakfast cereal. Simple, I thought, I'll buy two kinds, which I do. He thinks it is extravagant. We don't like the same vegetables and I thought life had too much trouble in it to add to the grief by stuffing down vegetables that we loathe. So I cook his vegetables and my vegetables, but he thinks we should have his kind one night and my kind the next. Then there is salad and dessert. He doesn't like salad and I have to count the calories, but he doesn't enjoy his whipped cream and cake because I am not fattening up on them. We planned a vacation and because I said I didn't care where we went because everything would be new and thrilling to me, he accuses me of not taking any interest in the trip.

I have worked hard at staying young and beautiful and my reward for that is his exclaiming: "My God, when I married you I supposed you would naturally get old and put on weight and get a few wrinkles here and there and sort of fade out generally. Instead, you are better-looking now than when I married you. You've got more style." Worst of all, when I offer him his night out each week he refuses to budge from the fireside and wants to know if I am trying to get rid of him.

So what? I have done my best to observe all the rules and regulations for a happy marriage and apparently they have slipped a cog some way. Understand I am not kicking about my husband. I haven't seen one anywhere I would trade for him. He loves me. He is generous. Has no bad habits and thinks my family swell. But still I would like to know where I have fallen down.

SALLY.

Answer: They say that all signs fail in dry weather, Sally. Doubtless the same is true in marriage and no rules and regulations apply to all cases. The most we can do is to generalize about the holy estate and to suggest that certain remedies are likely to be efficacious for certain ills.

But husbands differ and each one has to be dealt with according to his individual idiosyncrasies. Most husbands, for instance, are amenable to amiability and purr under the hand of the wife who strokes their fur the right way, but there are men who are born scrappers who are never happy unless they are in a fight and who start something the minute they get home.

If there is roast beef for dinner, they want to know why it isn't chicken. If the lights are turned on, they row about the waste of electricity. If the house is dark, they call it a tomb. If the wife asks how's business, they accuse her of prying into their affairs. If she doesn't they want to know how a man can get along if he has a wife who doesn't take any interest in his career.

DOROTHY DIX.

* * * * * *

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—A couple of years ago I had a serious affair with a woman and only my father's fine sense of balance and logical reasoning kept me from divorcing my wife and marrying this woman. Now I realize that I never stopped loving my wife and that my feeling for this other woman was just a passing infatuation. I have told my wife this and she says it makes her happy to know it, but I can feel her reservations and that she doesn't really believe it. That she doesn't trust me and that she thinks I am making the best of the situation with a good grace and may leave her when our son is grown. This is not true. Her behavior in that difficult time endeared her to me more than ever. I could stand my unhappiness, but she, too, is short of happiness that we would both have if I could overcome the fear that I see in her eyes. We are wasting precious time and missing so much that we might have if she could treat me as she did before this trouble came up. Can anything be done?

A BAFFLED HUSBAND.

Answer: What's done, is done, and it can never be changed. No woman whose husband has betrayed her can ever really forget it. It is always a wound in her heart that never heals, and the relationship between them can never be the beautiful, joyous thing it was when she trusted him implicitly.

But when a wife does forgive her husband for his disloyalty she does herself, as well as him, a great wrong when she doesn't wipe the slate clean, and make herself forget as far as possible his offence against her. She should never let herself think of it if she can help it, and we can control our thoughts if we try hard enough. She should never speak of it. She should never reproach him with it. She should never adopt the martyr pose. For her happiness depends upon her acceptance of the situation and upon her relegating it to the background of their lives as just an unpleasant episode which is finished and best forgotten.

And it is the only way in which the wife can possibly keep the tragedy from occurring again, for no man is going to be faithful to the wife who keeps him perpetually on the stool of repentance, who is forever throwing his weakness in his face and making him feel how good and kind and angelic she is in taking such a sinner back. He wants a wife who is happy and glad to be his wife, one who loves him. Not one who goes about sad and depressed and who reminds him at every turn that he has ruined her life.

If a woman is big enough and strong enough to forgive and forget, as the phrase goes; if she has sense enough to realize that a man's unfaithfulness is very often just the satisfying of a bodily hunger and has no more significance than his eating when he is hungry or drinking when he is thirsty, then there is no reason why her marriage should be spoiled by his having once strayed off the straight and narrow path. Often such a husband comes back to his wife more in love with her than ever because he has got a bigger measure of her character, because he compares her with a lesser woman and realizes how miserable he would have been if he had wrecked his home for a passing fancy.

And the husband who has sinned against his wife and truly repented may be trusted. He has had his lesson.

DOROTHY DIX.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JINGLE'S TOE

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Besides playing in the woods around Green Lake, where they were living in a cottage for the summer vacation, Uncle Wiggily's little rabbit boys and girls often would go wading in the water. There was a sandy beach not far from the cottage and there, in the shallow water, the animal children would wade and paddle, having much fun.

The water cooled their toes, their paws and their legs. The spicy cool wind from the woods blew on them and cooled the hot sun. It was lovely at Green Lake.

One day when Jingle, Jangle, Baby Bunting and some of the girl rabbits were wading in the lake, where the shiny sand tickled their toes, they saw Buster and some of the rabbit boys farther out in the lake. The boys seemed to be having fun, for they were laughing.

"I wonder what they are doing?" said Bunty.

"Oh, they're up to some tricks," said Jingle.

"If they try to splash water on us, I'll tell Daddy," said Jangle.

But Buster and the other rabbit boys didn't splash any water on their sisters. They seemed to be reaching down and turning over the green moss-covered rocks on the bottom of the lake. The rabbit boys were in water about up to their knees. All of a sudden, Buster called:

"Hey, you girls! Why don't you come out here where the water is deeper? Why do you stay so near shore?"

ROCKS WITH COVERING

"Because," answered Jingle, "the sand is so nice on our toes. We don't want to go out there among the rocks. They'll hurt our feet."

"Oh, no, the rocks won't hurt you," said Buster, another boy rabbit. "The rocks have nice, soft green moss on them."

"Sure they have," said Buster. "Come on out here! You'll be surprised, truly you will."

At the time the girls didn't know what Buster meant by saying they would be surprised. They found out later. Still, neither Jingle nor any of the other girls wanted to leave the soft, sandy beach to go out among the rocks. Then Buster called:

"I double dare one of you to come out here!"

"Go on, Jingle," said her sister Jangle. "Don't take a dare!"

STARTS OUT

"No, I won't," said Jingle. "I'll go out and see what the surprise is. I don't believe it's anything." While her sisters and brothers watched her, Jingle waded out among the mossy green rocks. She was barefooted, but she noticed the boy rabbits all had on their rubber sneakers. She didn't stop to think why this was, but said:

"Well, now I'm here, what's the surprise?"

"Put your left foot down near that stone," said Buster, pointing to a broad, flat one under water. Jingle did this and, all of a sudden, she felt her big toe caught by something that pinched her very hard.

"Oh! Oh!" cried Jingle screaming and trying to pull her toe loose. "Something has hold of me! Something is pinching my toe! What is it?"

"Hi! Ha! Ha!" laughed the boy rabbits. "A crayfish has hold of your toe, Jingle! You're caught by a crayfish that's under the stone!"

Laughing at their joke, the boy rabbits, whose toes the crayfish couldn't nip because the boys wore sneakers, leaped and splashed in the water. Poor Jingle couldn't get her toe loose from the claw of the crayfish, who was like a little lobster. But, Uncle Wiggily came hopping along, having heard Jingle's screams and, reaching down under water, Mr. Longears pulled the pinching crayfish off Jingle's toe. She wasn't hurt much, but she was scared.

But soon she was laughing for Uncle Wiggily bought her and the girls each an ice cream cone and he didn't buy the bad boys any. So if the bicycle pump will give the tea kettle a drink of molasses, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Susie's splinter.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1935

Adverse aspects dominate to-day, according to astrology. Under the planetary government there may be a feeling of apathy and lack of interest in matters of importance.

This is a sway under which persons procrastinate. The wise will forget the thermometer and engage in work that requires concentration.

While this configuration prevails there may be a tendency toward indirection and intrigue. Judgment may be untrustworthy and false friends may be accepted.

Women are subject to unfavorable influences to-day when they are likely to be discontented, restless and difficult to please. It is not an auspicious time for suitors.

Those who plight troth to-day are said to be under a direction of the stars that inclines toward quarrels and injustices. Vanity rather than common sense may guide both men and women.

This is a disappointing rule under which to promote personal interests of any sort. It is most threatening for those who seek support in any public movement, for many will be misjudged.

Each day the stars are read as presaging evil report and scandals. The wise will be deaf to gossip, which is to be as prevalent as high winds.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of certain vexations, but they affect human relations and do not affect business, it is forecast.

Children born on this day will be exceedingly intellectual and able to succeed in difficult careers. Subjects of this sign of Leo have many strong characteristics.

John D. Archbold, capitalist, was born on this day, 1848. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Robert Hall Babcock, physician, 1851; C. B. Cortelyou, one-time United States Secretary of the Treasury, 1862; George Bernard Shaw, playwright, 1856.

Rush Preparations For Polar Flight

BUSY TIME FOR ESTEVAN AHEAD

Lighthouse Tender Will Leave on Trip to West Coast Shortly

The Ss. Estevan, Dominion Government lighthouse tender, has a busy month ahead of her, according to the schedule announced this morning by the Department of Marine.

This morning the ship went out for compass adjustments, following the recent alterations to her boilers. She carried Captain L. H. Lindsay of Vancouver, commissioner of wrecks and examiner of masters and mates. She circled in the straits off Dallas Road making adjustments.

On Monday the Estevan will leave her dock to pick up coal, and about the middle of next week will tow the Sandheads lightship back to its station off the Fraser River mouth. The lightship has for the last month been undergoing annual repairs and overhaul work.

About the first Monday in August the lighthouse tender will leave for a three weeks' trip to the west coast, where she will visit various lighthouses and inspect unattended lights.

SEEK FIVE IN ST. LAWRENCE

Canadian Press

Quebec, July 25. — The Canadian Marine Department vessel Bernier today was searching for five persons, four men and a woman, who left Mont Louis, Gaspe, in a motorboat last Friday. The party set out for a short cruise in the St. Lawrence River and has not been heard from since.

Weather Reports Will Be Flashed to Soviet Plane on Flight From Moscow to California By U.S. Army Air Corps; Agent in Alaska Making Arrangements

Associated Press

Fairbanks, Alaska, July 25.—The U.S. army signal corps to-day rushed preparations for flashing "weather ahead" every three hours to the Russian non-stop plane once it starts its perilous flight from Moscow across "the roof of the world" to Oakland, Calif.

While the signal corps speeded its work of arranging for weather reports from beyond the Arctic Circle, N. A. Sokoloff, vice-president of Amtorg Inc. (Soviet Russian Trading Agency), was bound for Aklavik, N.W.T., to prepare other communication points for the fliers.

Twice interrupted in his trip north from Seattle, Sokoloff left Ketchikan, Alaska, by plane yesterday evening for Juneau, Alaska, from which city he plans to proceed to Aklivak, presumably representing the Soviet Government in planning a communication system.

The signal corps here has been advised the nonstop plane piloted by Sigmund Levanevsky, famous Russian flier, will follow the 120th west Meridian south through Canada if weather is favorable, but if it is not the plane will veer west and fly over Alaska.

DELAYED BY WEATHER

Moscow, July 25.—Heavy rains during the night were followed yesterday by cloudy skies to further delay the party awaiting to take off in the Soviet "mystery" plane on a polar route to San Francisco.

The weather cleared up toward evening, but authorities remained closemouthed regarding both the time and the site of the take-off.

The icebreaker Badko, which is radioing weather reports to the fliers, reached Spitzbergen yesterday.

Messages of good luck and confidence from the United States fliers Amelia Earhart and James Mattern were received yesterday.

"Such pioneer flights as that of Levanevsky (the pilot) are necessary to build the foundation of a future air transport," Miss Earhart's message, published in the newspaper Za Industrializatziu, said. "I sincerely desire the success of your undertaking."

Mattern, who was rescued by Levanevsky and his party in Anadir on his halted round-the-world flight, expressed the belief that the Russian party would reach San Francisco.

CRACK TRAIN IS DERAILED

Nobody Hurt When Streamlined City of Portland Goes Off Track

Associated Press

Kemmerer, Wy., July 25.—The City of Portland, the Union Pacific Railway Company's crack streamlined train, was derailed in Nugget Canyon, seventeen miles west of here yesterday.

Although the silver train plunged down the roadbed three-quarters of a mile after several cars left the tracks and crashed through a large water pump and tool house, none of the seventy-five passengers was injured. Investigators said not even a minor injury was listed.

Railway officials who rushed to the canyon to inspect the train declined to comment on the cause of the derailment, but individual workmen said they believed a wheel of the centre car broke, throwing the train off the tracks.

As soon as a conductor felt the bumping of the centre cars, he signaled Engineer R. H. Hunter, who stopped the train. Passengers in the first two cars said they were not aware of the derailment until the train had stopped and the crew inspected them.

Engineer Hunter said he believed the sturdy construction of the streamlined cars prevented serious injury to passengers and train.

The streamlined train, one of the recently-added units to the western lines, ran on the Portland-Chicago route. Railway officials said that it had not been placed on regular daily schedule.

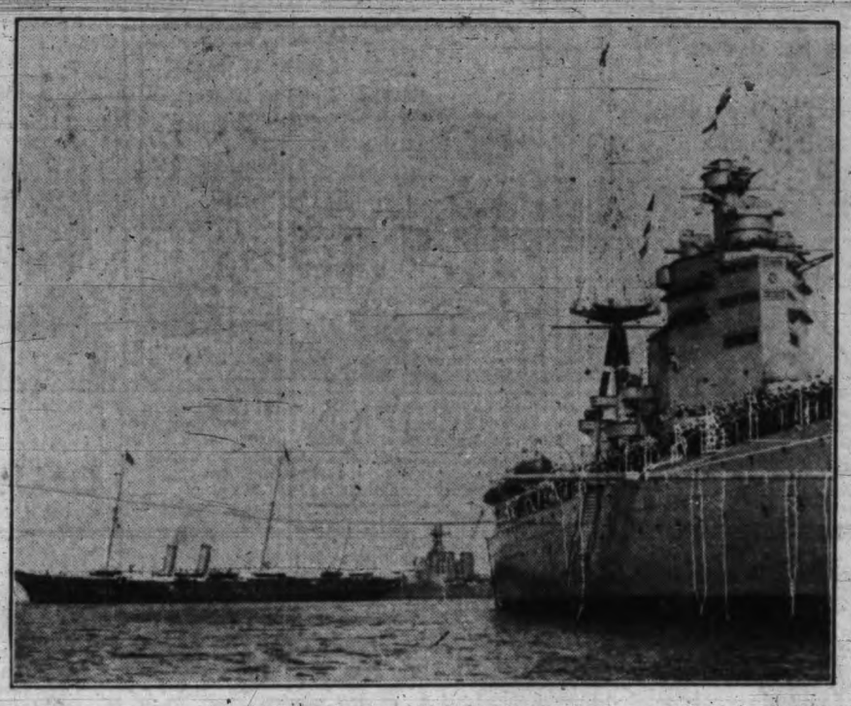
ROYAL NAVY IN REVIEW OFF PORTSMOUTH



The most formidable array of fighting ships concentrated since the Great War was reviewed by His Majesty the King off Portsmouth as part of the Royal Silver Jubilee celebrations. Aboard the yacht Victoria and Albert, the King and three of his sons, the Prince of Wales, Duke of York and Duke of Kent, passed down lanes of warships miles long to receive the acclaim of the jack tars. The above picture was taken when the King last paid a visit to the Home Fleet in Weymouth Bay, and shows the Royal Yacht passing H.M.S. Nelson, the flagship.

WILL CALL AT SAN FRANCISCO

Aorangi Will Take Passengers to California on August 12 Sailing

The offices of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Australasian line announce that the C.A. liner Aorangi, the largest vessel between these ports and the Antipodes, will make a special sailing from Vancouver and Victoria to San Francisco on August 12.

An exceptionally modest fare has been arranged for this unique voyage, and accommodation will be provided for a limited number of automobiles.

This special sailing has been arranged to accommodate about 300 members of the British Medical Association, who are traveling from the United Kingdom for a conference in Sydney, many of whom are crossing the continent via the United States. They will be picked up at the Golden Gate city on August 14 and continue on to the Australian port.

This offer is good for one-way travel only, passengers taking advantage of this unusual chance of an ocean trip on a deep-sea liner will have to make their own arrangements for return accommodation. The Aorangi will leave Vancouver at 11 a.m. August 12, leave Victoria 5 p.m. the same day, and after a leisurely cruise down the Coast is due to reach San Francisco on August 14.

STRIKE LASTED HALF AN HOUR

Port Arthur, Ont., July 25.—Stevedores employed at Fort William and Port Arthur freight sheds went on strike to-day to enforce their demands for higher wages, but were back at work within half an hour.

Work was resumed by the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees as soon as a telegram was received from Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, offering his services in the dispute.

It was decided to send a committee of six men to confer with Mr. Gordon in the hope the disagreement could be straightened out without further use of the strike weapon. Three hundred workers are involved in Port Arthur and 350 in Fort William.

A conciliation board which inquired into demands of the men for higher wages recommended increases be given them and failure of the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National Railways and the Western Stevedore Company to comply with recommendation brought about a strike vote.

BID GOODBYE TO C.P.R. OFFICIAL

Vancouver, July 25.—Twenty-six officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the Coast headed by C. A. Cotterell, assistant general manager, attended a complimentary luncheon at Hotel Vancouver yesterday to E. C. P. Cushing, purchasing agent for their company here for the past seven years, who is leaving on Thursday for Winnipeg to take over the post of purchasing agent there.

His Vancouver post will be taken by S. V. T. Jeffery, purchasing agent at Winnipeg, due in Vancouver shortly.

The luncheon followed a formal presentation Tuesday to Mr. Cushing of a leather sports bag, a mark of appreciation from the Canadian Pacific Association of Vancouver.

Many officers associated with Mr. Cushing at various times during his thirty-three-year service with the company, first as a stenographer with the passenger department in Ottawa and Montreal, later as private secretary and afterwards chief clerk to the late Lord Shaughnessy during his reign as president, and still later as assistant purchasing agent at Calgary and Vancouver, joined in to-day's informal expression of appreciation and goodwill.

Captains of Two Vessels Damaged Off San Francisco Tell Different Stories

Associated Press

San Francisco, July 25.—Two different versions of the crash of the intercoastal freighter Calmar and the Japanese freighter Koryu Maru twenty miles off the Golden Gate were given by the captains of the ships upon their arrival here yesterday.

"It was a dense fog, that's all, thank you," said Captain M. Endo of the Koryu Maru.

Captain Axel Michelson of the Calmar declared he had given the proper signal for his vessel to pass, but said the Japanese vessel continued to approach.

SAYS SAW OTHER

"We saw the other vessel and gave the proper signal to pass on the port side, but the Japanese ship came on," said Captain Michelson.

"I then ordered the engines thrown into reverse and we were practically at a halt when the other ship knifed us almost amidships.

"Some of the men abandoned the ship after the collision and twelve were taken aboard the Japanese vessel. The officers remained aboard and the crew returned in about half an hour."

DAMAGE HEAVY

Damage to the Calmar, which was struck amidships by the sharp bow of the Koryu Maru, was estimated by officials of the Calmar line at $150,000. Marine experts estimated damage to the bow of the Koryu Maru at $35,000.

MANY EVENTS ON EXCURSION

Princess Victoria Will Make All-day Trip to Newcastle Island Saturday

Newcastle Island, popular summer resort at Nanaimo which offers every sort of recreation, will be the object of an all-day cruise on Saturday.

The excursion, sponsored by the B.C. Electric Railway Company, will leave Belleville Street docks on board the Ss. Princess Victoria of the B.C. Coast Service at 8.30 a.m. On the return voyage the Victoria will sail from Newcastle Island at 6 p.m.

The excursion will cobine several trips in one. It will take the many who are expected to take advantage of the low fares through the beautiful scenery of the Gulf Islands. The excursionists will go to a holiday resort, where they can swim and walk through woodland trails, and where their children can paddle in a special pool and enjoy a well equipped playground. And finally, for those who wish to leave the island, there is a ferry service to Nanaimo every half hour.

B.C. Electric employees from Vancouver will meet with the local party on Newcastle Island for sports and a picnic, and will have a chance to get acquainted with each other.

On board the ship, an orchestra will be on hand for dancing, and various entertainment features are being planned.

CUNARD AGENT HERE TO-DAY

Visiting the several local shipping offices which hold Cunard White Star line agencies, F. Lefeaux, Vancouver representative of the company, was in Victoria to-day.

Transatlantic travel was exceptionally good this year, and in many instances passengers have been disappointed because they could not secure the desired accommodation due to not having made application for reservation early enough, said Mr. Lefeaux.

The Franconia, Cunard White Star cruising liner, will make another around-the-world tour next year, sailing from New York January 7 and arriving back again on May 29, Mr. Lefeaux announced. The route to be followed on this cruise will be by way of South America, South Africa, India, Strait Settlements, China, Japan, Hawaiian Islands, Los Angeles and Balboa.

The Canadian Legion pilgrimage to Vimy and the battlefields in July, 1936, gives promise of being a great success, he said, and quite a number have already signed membership application forms and paid several installments on account of fare.

EMMA HERE TO-NIGHT

Inbound from California ports, Ss. Emma Alexander of the Pacific Steamship Lines will dock at Rithet's Piers at 11 o'clock tonight, according to W. M. Allen, local agent of the company. The Emma has fifty passengers for Victoria. She will leave no cargo here. She will sail about two hours later for Seattle.

KIKAWA MARU ON MONDAY

Ms. Hikawa Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha is due at William Head on Monday, according to advice received yesterday by Harry E. Douglas, local agent for the line. She has fifty-five passengers in all classes for Vancouver, and fifty-four for Seattle. The vessel is carrying 877 tons of freight.

NIAGARA READY NEXT WEEK

Work on the Ss. Niagara will probably continue well into next week, Yarrow Limited announced this morning. The Canadian-Australasian Line plan that she should sail from here August 1 or 2.

CALLED HERE TO-DAY

Arriving from the United Kingdom by way of Panama and California ports Ms. Lochmonar of the Royal Mail Lines docked at Ogden Point at 7.15 o'clock this morning, and was due to sail at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The vessel, commanded by Captain H. F. Wormsley, landed 250 tons of general cargo here. She is carrying passengers for the mainland, but brought none to Victoria. The vessel was worked without trouble, although striking longshoremen were still picketing at the head of the docks.

JAPAN TO DRYDOCK

For her summer overhaul and repainting, R.M.S. Empress of Japan of the Canadian Pacific, will enter the Dominion Government Drydock at Esquimalt on August 2, Yarrows Limited announced this morning.

NIAGARA SAILS NEAR AUGUST 1

Will Transfer Passengers to Other Ship at Auckland; to Resume Schedule

The Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara, recently damaged in collision with the steamer King Egbert, while bound for Australia and New Zealand, is expected to be able to resume her southbound voyage on Thursday, August 1, or the following day.

This information was contained in an official report from J. J. Forster, steamship general passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Steamship in Vancouver.

Mr. Forster advises that bookings are now being made for this sailing through all C.-A. line and Canadian Pacific offices.

To enable the Niagara to maintain her regular schedule, arrangements have been made for the passengers departing from Victoria on August 1 or thereabouts to be transferred to the C.-A. liner Marama at Auckland, whence the Niagara will turn about bound for Honolulu, Victoria and Vancouver to be ready for her regular sailing from the latter port on September 11.

Hundreds Join In Excursion

Hudson's Bay Beaver Club's Gulf Islands Outing Is Great Success

Clouds cleared away yesterday morning just in time to complete the success of the annual excursion cruise of the Hudson's Bay Company Beaver Club, enjoyed by 800 employees of the company, friends and holiday-makers during the afternoon and evening.

Under clear blue skies Ss. Princess Joan of the B.C. Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific took the party at a leisurely pace through the Gulf Islands, passing up near the Coast of Vancouver Island as far as Mayne Island, and then putting further out into the Straits of Georgia for the run home, passing close to San Juan Island.

A full and varied programme of entertainment, with competitions for many prizes, was arranged by the organizers of the cruise to keep the party occupied during their six hours' afloat, from 2 o'clock when the Princess Joan left the Belleville Street docks, to 8 o'clock when she returned.

Right turning, left turning and marking time their way to success at the word of command of the mythical O'Grady, Miss P. Butts and B. Atkinson carried off the first prizes in "O'Grady's Drill."

A spot dancing contest followed, in the main hall of the Princess Joan, with the first honors going to Mrs. C. E. Glover and Ronald Glover. Winners of a puzzle competition printed on the programme of the day were A. H. Jones, Miss Thorne and Miss McMillan.

A giant tombola, in which more than seventy prizes were distributed was another feature of the afternoon. After the tombola many of the party adjourned to the smoking room to play housie-housie.

Dancing and community singing concluded the entertainment as the steamer slid along the Victoria coastline into the Inner Harbor.

There were three young persons aboard the Princess Joan who probably enjoyed the outing more than anybody else. They were three orphans who had never been on board a ship before, and who went along as the guests of the Hudson's Bay Company.

The excursion was organized by the executive of the Beaver Club: F. J. Sellers, president; A. J. Watson, manager of the Victoria store, honorary vice-president; Miss W. Horrocks, vice-president; Miss H. Butterfield, treasurer; L. J. D. Smith, secretary, and J. Walton, J. Chambers, C. L. Smith, J. Oakman and J. Baxter.

Miss Horrocks was unable to take part in the cruise, being absent on a buying trip. She sent a telegram of congratulation and good wishes to members of the club taking part.
